Provided for Distributor's Convenience of Selection

Each set of Bible or Testament plates permits of ten styles of binding on each of three to five varieties of contents, thus producing a multiplicity of styles and varieties. This quantity is too large for any distributor to successfully handle. But, all styles must be listed in the Bible Publisher's catalogue to insure that every individual want can be supplied. Only a limited number of styles, such as we present herewith, is required to do a maximum volume of business, thus eliminating unnecessary investment in slow selling kinds.

World wickedness and deluge. GENESIS 7.

5 ¶ And GOD saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually.

6 And it repented the LORD that he had made man on the earth, and it grieved him at his heart.

7 And the LORD said, I will destroy man whom I have created from the face of the earth; both man, and beast, and the creeping thing, and the fowls of the air; for it repenteth me that I have made them.

8 But Noah found grace in the eyes of the LORD.

9 ¶ These are the generations of Noah: Noah was a just man and perfect in his generations, and Noah walked with God.

10 And Noah begat three sons, Shem, Ham, and Japheth.

11 The earth also was corrupt before God, and the earth was filled with violence.

12 And God looked upon the earth, and, behold, it was corrupt; for all flesh had corrupted his way upon the earth.

13 And God said unto Noah, The end of all flesh is come before me; for the earth is filled with violence through them; and, behold, I will destroy them with the earth.

14 ¶ Make thee an ark of gopher wood; rooms shalt thou make in the ark, and shalt pitch it within and without with pitch.

15 And this is the fashion which thou shalt make it of: The length of the ark shall be three hundred cubits, the breadth of it fifty cubits, and the height of it thirty cubits.

16 A window shalt thou make to the ark, and in a cubit shalt thou finish it above; and the door of the ark shalt thou set in the side thereof; with lower, second, and third stories shalt thou make it.

17 And, behold, I, even I, do bring a flood of waters upon the earth, to destroy all flesh, wherein is the breath of life, from under heaven; and every thing that is in the earth shall die.

18 But with thee will I establish my covenant; and thou shalt come into the ark, thou, and thy sons, and thy wife, and thy sons' wives with thee.

19 And of every living thing of all flesh, two of every sort shalt thou bring into the ark, to keep them alive with thee; they shall be male and female.

20 Of fowls after their kind, and of cattle after their kind, of every creeping thing of the earth after his kind, two of every sort shall come unto thee, to keep them alive.

21 And take thou unto thee of all food that is eaten, and thou shalt gather it to thee; and it shall be for food for thee, and for them.

22 Thus did Noah; according to all that God commanded him, so did he.

7] CHAPTER 7.

The general deluge.

AND the LORD said unto Noah, Come thou and all thy house into the ark; for thee have I seen righteous before me in this generation.

2 Of every clean beast thou shalt take to thee by sevens, the male and his female: and of beasts that are not clean by two, the male and his female.

3 Of fowls also of the air by sevens, the male and the female; to keep seed alive upon the face of all the earth.

4 For yet seven days, and I will cause it to rain upon the earth forty days and forty nights; and every living substance that I have made will I destroy from off the face of the earth.

5 And Noah did according unto all that the LORD commanded him.

6 And Noah was six hundred years old when the flood of waters was upon the earth.

7 ¶ And Noah went in, and his sons, and his wife, and his sons' wives with him, into the ark, because of the waters of the flood.

8 Of clean beasts, and of beasts that are not clean, and of fowls, and of every thing that creepeth upon the earth,

9 There went in two and two unto Noah into the ark, the male and the female, as God had commanded Noah.

10 And it came to pass after seven days, that the waters of the flood were upon the earth.

11 ¶ In the six hundredth year of Noah's life, in the second month, the seventeenth day of the month, the same day were all the fountains of the great deep broken up, and the windows of heaven were opened.

12 And the rain was upon the earth forty days and forty nights.

13 In the selfsame day entered Noah, and Shem, and Ham, and Japheth, the sons of Noah, and Noah's wife, and the three wives of his sons with them, into the ark;

14 They, and every beast after his kind, and all the cattle after their kind, and every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth after his kind, and every fowl after his kind, every bird of every sort.

15 And they went in unto Noah into the ark, two and two of all flesh, wherein is the breath of life.

16 And they that went in, went in male and female of all flesh, as God had commanded him: and the LORD shut him in.

17 And the flood was forty days upon the earth; and the waters increased, and bare up the ark, and it was lift up above the earth.

18 And the waters prevailed, and were increased greatly upon the earth; and the ark went upon the face of the waters.

Christ's sermon ST. MATTHEW, 5. in the mount.

24 And his fame went throughout all Sȳr'ĭ-a: and they brought unto him all sick people that were taken with divers diseases and torments, and those which were possessed with devils, and those which were lunatick, and those that had the palsy; and he healed them.

25 And there followed him great multitudes of people from Gāl'ĭ-lee, and from Dĕ-cāp'ō-lis, and from Jē-ru'sa-lēm, and from Jū-dæ'a, and from beyond Jŏr'dan.

CHAPTER 5.

1 Beginning of the sermon in the mount. 14 The light of the world. 21 What it is to kill. 38 Exhortation to suffer wrong. 44 Love our enemies. 48 Labour to be perfect.

AND seeing the multitudes, he went up into a mountain: and when he was set, his disciples came unto him:

2 And he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying,

3 Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

4 Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted.

5 Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth.

6 Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled.

7 Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy.

8 Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God.

9 Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God.

10 Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

11 Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake.

12 Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you.

13 ¶ Ye are the salt of the earth: but if the salt have lost his savour, wherewith shall it be salted? it is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men.

14 Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid.

15 Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick; and it giveth light unto all that are in the house.

16 Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven.

17 ¶ Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil.

18 For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled.

19 Whosoever therefore shall break one of these least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven: but whosoever shall do and teach them, the same shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven.

20 For I say unto you, That except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Phăr'ĭ-sees, ye shall in no case enter into the kingdom of heaven.

21 ¶ Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not kill; and whosoever shall kill shall be in danger of the judgment:

22 But I say unto you, That whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the judgment: and whosoever shall say to his brother, Raca, shall be in danger of the council: but whosoever shall say, Thou fool, shall be in danger of hell fire.

23 Therefore if thou bring thy gift to the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath ought against thee;

24 Leave there thy gift before the altar, and go thy way; first be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift.

25 Agree with thine adversary quickly, whiles thou art in the way with him; lest at any time the adversary deliver thee to the judge, and the judge deliver thee to the officer, and thou be cast into prison.

26 Verily I say unto thee, Thou shalt by no means come out thence, till thou hast paid the uttermost farthing.

27 ¶ Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not commit adultery:

28 But I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart.

29 And if thy right eye offend thee, pluck it out, and cast it from thee: for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members should perish, and not that thy whole body should be cast into hell.

Generations of Terah. GENESIS, 12. God calleth Abram.

17 And Ē′bĕr lived after he begat Pē′leg four hundred and thirty years, and begat sons and daughters.
18 And Pē′leg lived thirty years, and begat Rē′u:
19 And Pē′leg lived after he begat Rē′u two hundred and nine years, and begat sons and daughters.
20 And Rē′u lived two and thirty years, and begat Sē′rug:
21 And Rē′u lived after he begat Sē′rug two hundred and seven years, and begat sons and daughters.
22 And Sē′rug lived thirty years, and begat Nā′hôr:
23 And Sē′rug lived after he begat Nā′hôr two hundred years, and begat sons and daughters.
24 And Nā′hôr lived nine and twenty years, and begat Tē′rah:
25 And Nā′hôr lived after he begat Tē′rah an hundred and nineteen years, and begat sons and daughters.
26 And Tē′rah lived seventy years, and begat Ā′brăm, Nā′hôr, and Hā′ran.
27 ¶ Now these are the generations of Tē′rah: Tē′rah begat Ā′brăm, Nā′hôr, and Hā′ran; and Hā′ran begat Lŏt.
28 And Hā′ran died before his father Tē′rah in the land of his nativity, in Ûr of the Chăl′dees.
29 And Ā′brăm and Nā′hôr took them wives: the name of Ā′brăm's wife was Sā′rāi; and the name of Nā′hôr's wife, Mil′cah, the daughter of Hā′ran, the father of Mil′cah, and the father of Is′cah.
30 But Sā′rāi was barren; she had no child.
31 And Tē′rah took Ā′brăm his son, and Lŏt the son of Hā′ran his son's son, and Sā′rāi his daughter in law, his son Ā′brăm's wife; and they went forth with them from Ûr of the Chăl′dees, to go into the land of Cā′năan; and they came unto Hā′ran, and dwelt there.
32 And the days of Tē′rah were two hundred and five years: and Tē′rah died in Hā′ran.

CHAPTER 12.

1 God calleth Abram, and blesseth him with a promise of Christ: 4 he departs from Haran. 6 Canaan promised.

NOW the LORD had said unto Ā′brăm, Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto a land that I will shew thee:
2 And I will make of thee a great nation, and I will bless thee, and make thy name great; and thou shalt be a blessing:
3 And I will bless them that bless thee, and curse him that curseth thee: and in thee shall all families of the earth be blessed.
4 So Ā′brăm departed, as the LORD had spoken unto him; and Lŏt went with him: and Ā′brăm was seventy and five years old when he departed out of Hā′ran.
5 And Ā′brăm took Sā′rāi his wife, and Lŏt his brother's son, and all their substance that they had gathered, and the souls that they had gotten in Hā′ran; and they went forth to go into the land of Cā′năan; and into the land of Cā′năan they came.
6 ¶ And Ā′brăm passed through the land unto the place of Sī′chem, unto the plain of Mō′reh. And the Cā′năan-īte was then in the land.
7 And the LORD appeared unto Ā′brăm, and said, Unto thy seed will I give this land: and there builded he an altar unto the LORD, who appeared unto him.
8 And he removed from thence unto a mountain on the east of Bĕth′-el, and pitched his tent, having Bĕth′-el on the west, and Hā′i on the east: and there he builded an altar unto the LORD, and called upon the name of the LORD.
9 And Ā′brăm journeyed, going on still toward the south.
10 ¶ And there was a famine in the land: and Ā′brăm went down into Ē′gўpt to sojourn there; for the famine was grievous in the land.
11 And it came to pass, when he was come near to enter into Ē′gўpt, that he said unto Sā′rāi his wife, Behold now, I know that thou art a fair woman to look upon:
12 Therefore it shall come to pass, when the Ē-gўp′tians shall see thee, that they shall say, This is his wife: and they will kill me, but they will save thee alive.
13 Say, I pray thee, thou art my sister: that it may be well with me for thy sake; and my soul shall live because of thee.

A prayer against enemies. PSALMS, 28–30. God is blessed.

may dwell in the house of the LORD all the days of my life, to behold the beauty of the LORD, and to enquire in his temple.

5 For in the time of trouble he shall hide me in his pavilion: in the secret of his tabernacle shall he hide me; he shall set me up upon a rock.

6 And now shall mine head be lifted up above mine enemies round about me: therefore will I offer in his tabernacle sacrifices of joy; I will sing, yea, I will sing praises unto the LORD.

7 Hear, O LORD, when I cry with my voice: have mercy also upon me, and answer me.

8 When thou saidst, Seek ye my face; my heart said unto thee, Thy face, LORD, will I seek.

9 Hide not thy face far from me; put not thy servant away in anger: thou hast been my help; leave me not, neither forsake me, O God of my salvation.

10 When my father and my mother forsake me, then the LORD will take me up.

11 Teach me thy way, O LORD, and lead me in a plain path, because of mine enemies.

12 Deliver me not over unto the will of mine enemies: for false witnesses are risen up against me, and such as breathe out cruelty.

13 I had fainted, unless I had believed to see the goodness of the LORD in the land of the living.

14 Wait on the LORD: be of good courage, and he shall strengthen thine heart: wait, I say, on the LORD.

PSALM 28.

1 A prayer against enemies. 6 God is blessed. 9 Prayer for the people.

A Psalm of David.

UNTO thee will I cry, O LORD my rock; be not silent to me: lest, if thou be silent to me, I become like them that go down into the pit.

2 Hear the voice of my supplications, when I cry unto thee, when I lift up my hands toward thy holy oracle.

3 Draw me not away with the wicked, and with the workers of iniquity, which speak peace to their neighbours, but mischief is in their hearts.

4 Give them according to their deeds, and according to the wickedness of their endeavours: give them after the work of their hands; render to them their desert

5 Because they regard not the works of the LORD, nor the operation of his hands, he shall destroy them, and not build them up.

6 Blessed be the LORD, because he hath heard the voice of my supplications.

7 The LORD is my strength and my shield; my heart trusted in him, and I am helped: therefore my heart greatly rejoiceth; and with my song will I praise him.

8 The LORD is their strength, and he is the saving strength of his anointed.

9 Save thy people, and bless thine inheritance: feed them also, and lift them up for ever.

PSALM 29.

David exhorts princes to give glory to God.

A Psalm of David.

GIVE unto the LORD, O ye mighty, give unto the LORD glory and strength.

2 Give unto the LORD the glory due unto his name; worship the LORD in the beauty of holiness.

3 The voice of the LORD is upon the waters: the God of glory thundereth: the LORD is upon many waters.

4 The voice of the LORD is powerful; the voice of the LORD is full of majesty.

5 The voice of the LORD breaketh the cedars; yea, the LORD breaketh the cedars of Lebanon.

6 He maketh them also to skip like a calf; Lebanon and Sirion like a young unicorn.

7 The voice of the LORD divideth the flames of fire.

8 The voice of the LORD shaketh the wilderness; the LORD shaketh the wilderness of Kadesh.

9 The voice of the LORD maketh the hinds to calve, and discovereth the forests: and in his temple doth every one speak of his glory.

10 The LORD sitteth upon the flood; yea, the LORD sitteth King for ever.

11 The LORD will give strength unto his people; the LORD will bless his people with peace.

PSALM 30.

THE GENERAL EPISTLE OF

JAMES.

1147 CHAPTER 1.

JAMES, a servant of God and of the Lord Je'sus Christ, to the twelve tribes which are scattered abroad, greeting.

2 My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations.

3 Knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience.

4 But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing.

5 If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him.

6 But let him ask in faith, nothing wavering. For he that wavereth is like a wave of the sea, driven with the wind and tossed.

7 For let not that man think that he shall receive any thing of the Lord.

8 A double minded man is unstable in all his ways.

9 Let the brother of low degree rejoice in that he is exalted:

10 But the rich, in that he is made low: because as the flower of the grass he shall pass away.

11 For the sun is no sooner risen with a burning heat, but it withereth the grass, and the flower thereof falleth, and the grace of the fashion of it perisheth: so also shall the rich man fade away in his ways.

12 Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him.

13 Let no man say when he is tempted, I am tempted of God: for God cannot be tempted with evil, neither tempteth he any man:

14 But every man is tempted, when he is drawn away of his own lust, and enticed.

15 Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin: and sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death.

16 Do not err, my beloved brethren.

17 Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning.

18 Of his own will begat he us with the word of truth, that we should be a kind of firstfruits of his creatures.

19 Wherefore, my beloved brethren, let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath:

20 For the wrath of man worketh not the righteousness of God.

21 Wherefore lay apart all filthiness and superfluity of naughtiness, and receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save your souls.

22 But be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves.

23 For if any be a hearer of the word, and not a doer, he is like unto a man beholding his natural face in a glass:

24 For he beholdeth himself, and goeth his way, and straightway forgetteth what manner of man he was.

25 But whoso looketh into the perfect law of liberty, and continueth therein, he being not a forgetful hearer, but a doer of the work, this man shall be blessed in his deed.

26 If any man among you seem to be religious, and bridleth not his tongue, but deceiveth his own heart, this man's religion is vain.

27 Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father, is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world.

CHAPTER 2. 1148

MY brethren, have not the faith of our Lord Je'sus Christ, the Lord of glory, with respect of persons.

2 For if there come unto your assembly a man with a gold ring, in goodly apparel, and there come in also a poor man in vile raiment;

3 And ye have respect to him that weareth the gay clothing, and say unto him, Sit thou here in a good place; and say to the poor, Stand thou there, or sit here under my footstool:

4 Are ye not then partial in yourselves, and are become judges of evil thoughts?

5 Hearken, my beloved brethren, Hath not God chosen the poor of this world rich in faith, and heirs of the kingdom which he hath promised to them that love him?

6 But ye have despised the poor. Do not rich men oppress you, and draw you before the judgment seats?

7 Do not they blaspheme that worthy name by the which ye are called?

8 If ye fulfil the royal law, according to the scripture, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself, ye do well:

9 But if ye have respect to persons, ye commit sin, and are convinced of the law as transgressors.

10 For whosoever shall keep the whole law, and yet offend in one point, he is guilty of all.

11 For he that said, Do not commit adultery, said also, Do not kill. Now if thou commit no adultery, yet if thou kill, thou art become a transgressor of the law.

12 So speak ye, and so do, as they that shall be judged by the law of liberty.

13 For he shall have judgment without mercy, that hath shewed no mercy; and mercy rejoiceth against judgment.

14 What doth it profit, my brethren, though a man say he hath faith, and have not works? can faith save him?

15 If a brother or sister be naked, and destitute of daily food,

16 And one of you say unto them, Depart in peace, be ye warmed and filled; notwithstanding ye give them not those

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE EPHESIANS.

CHAPTER 1.

1 He blesseth God for spiritual blessings, 7 and for redemption by his grace.

PAUL, an apostle of Jē'şus Chrĭst by the will of God, to the saints which are at Ĕph'ē-sŭs, [a] and to the faithful in Chrĭst Jē'şus:

2 [b] Grace be to you, and peace, from God our Father, and from the Lord Jē'şus Chrĭst.

3 [c] Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jē'şus Chrĭst, who hath blessed us with all spiritual blessings in heavenly [1] places in Chrĭst:

4 According as [d] he hath chosen us in him [e] before the foundation of the world, that we should [f] be holy and without blame before him in love:

5 [g] Having predestinated us unto [h] the adoption of children by Jē'şus Chrĭst to himself, [i] according to the good pleasure of his will,

6 [j] To the praise of the glory of his grace, [k] wherein he hath made us accepted in [l] the beloved.

7 [m] In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to [n] the riches of his grace;

8 Wherein he hath abounded toward us in all wisdom and prudence;

9 [o] Having made known unto us the mystery of his will, according to his good pleasure [p] which he hath purposed in himself:

10 That in the dispensation of [q] the fulness of times [r] he might gather together in one [s] all things in Chrĭst, both which are in [2] heaven, and which are on earth; even in him:

11 [t] In whom also we have obtained an inheritance, being predestinated according to [u] the purpose of him who worketh all things after the counsel of his own will:

12 [v] That we should be to the praise of his glory, [w] who first [3] trusted in Chrĭst.

13 In whom ye also trusted, after that ye heard the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation: in whom also after that ye believed, [x] ye were sealed with that holy Spĭrit of promise,

14 [y] Which is the earnest of our inheritance [z] until the redemption of [a] the purchased possession, unto the praise of his glory.

15 Wherefore I also, after I heard of your faith in the Lord Jē'şus, and love unto all the saints,

16 Cease not to give thanks for you, making mention of you in my prayers;

17 That the God of our Lord Jē'şus Chrĭst, the Father of glory, [b] may give unto you the spirit of wisdom and revelation [4] in the knowledge of him:

18 [c] The eyes of your understanding being enlightened; that ye may know what is the hope of his calling, and what the riches of the glory of his inheritance in the saints,

19 And what is the exceeding greatness of his power to us-ward who believe, [d] according to the working [5] of his mighty power,

20 Which he wrought in Chrĭst, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his own right hand in the heavenly places,

21 [e] Far above all principality, and power, and might, and dominion, and every name that is named, not only in this world, but also in that which is to come:

22 And [f] hath put all things under his feet, and gave him [g] to be the head over all things to the church,

23 [h] Which is his body, the fulness of him [i] that filleth all in all.

CHAPTER 2.

1 What the Ephesians' state was: 4 God's mercy in their deliverance.

AND [a] you hath he quickened, who were dead in trespasses and sins;

2 [b] Wherein in time past ye walked according to the course of this world, according to the prince of the power of the air, the spirit that now worketh in [c] the children of disobedience:

3 [d] Among whom also we all had our conversation in times past in [e] the lusts of our flesh, fulfilling [1] the desires of the flesh and of the mind; and [f] were by nature the children of wrath, even as others.

4 But God, [g] who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us,

5 [h] Even when we were dead in sins, hath [i] quickened us together with Chrĭst, ([2] by grace ye are saved;)

6 And hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Chrĭst Jē'şus:

THE NEW HELPS CONSIST OF

The Inclusive Dictionary-Concordance in one alphabet

It contains every needed assistance to the Bible student, including a Dictionary, a Concordance, and a Subject Index of important topics

Over 100 Illustrations in the text, including full-page illustrations

The Dictionary included in this alphabetical arrangement is self-pronouncing. It is not merely an explanation of words. The meaning or derivation of the name is given in every instance. Passages of Scripture are quoted, and an interesting explanation is presented to the reader.

Where it is possible, the exact location of the geographical name has been given, and the modern name if the place is still in existence. The illustrations enable one to visualize the subject, as well as to find the meaning, and the reference to the Scriptures.

The Concordance part is so arranged that there is no difficulty in finding a word, all Concordance words being indented.

White space precedes the lines, thus enabling one to find the right word and the particular reference desired, instantly. Although necessarily condensed in order to make it available for publication with the Bible, it embraces all the salient points of the complete Concordance.

The Charts and Chronological Tables, not usually available in so extended a form in condensed Bible Helps, make the information there contained strikingly visible.

The Maps, printed on coated paper, are distinguished by strong boundary lines and contrasted coloring, not glaring in tone. They have been in use for some time and were verified and authenticated by some of the best known and most exacting Bible scholars.

A New, Practical Course in Bible Reading is also included in this edition of the Bible. This course has the great merit of tending to form in the reader the Bible-reading habit. It is divided into thirty-six lessons. The System of Markings is simple and the story of the books of the Old Testament, and also the life of Christ, add to the interest of either student or general reader.

NOTE the bold-faced type, pronouncing text, center column references with chapter numbers in heavy type—unusual in Bibles, but a great aid to quick reference.

Synopsis at head of chapters—quite full—some Bibles have none.

The figures to the left of Chapter Head indicate the total number of chapters from the beginning of the Bible.

The headlines also are in bold type in keeping with the text.

The name of the book, on outside corner, makes the Bible practically self-indexed.

22 Whom I have sent unto you for the same purpose, that ye might know our affairs, and that he might comfort your hearts.

23 Peace be to the brethren, and love with faith, from God the Father and the Lord Jē'şus Chrīst.

24 Grace be with all them that love our Lord Jē'şus Chrīst [9] in sincerity. Amen.

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO THE PHILIPPIANS.

1104 CHAPTER 1.

1 Paul's thankfulness and prayer to God for them: 21 his readiness to glorify Christ.

PAUL and Tĭ-mō'the-ŭs, the servants of Jē'şus Chrīst, to all the saints in Chrīst Jē'şus which are at Phĭ-lĭp'pī, with the [1] bishops and deacons:

2 Grace be unto you, and peace, from God our Father, and from the Lord Jē'şus Chrīst.

3 [a] I thank my God upon every [2] remembrance of you,

4 Always in every prayer of mine for you all making request with joy,

5 [b] For your fellowship in the gospel from the first day until now;

6 Being confident of this very thing, that he which hath begun [c] a good work in you [3] will perform it until the day of Jē'şus Chrīst:

7 Even as it is meet for me to think this of you all, because [4] I have you in my heart; inasmuch as both in [d] my bonds, and in the defence and confirmation of the gospel, [e] ye all are [5] partakers of my grace.

8 For God is my record, how greatly I long after you all in the bowels of Jē'şus Chrīst.

9 And this I pray, [f] that your love may abound yet more and more in knowledge and in all [6] judgment;

10 That [g] ye may [7] approve things that [8] are excellent; [h] that ye may be sincere and without offence till the day of Chrīst;

13 So that my bonds [9] in Chrīst are manifest [j] in all [10] the palace, and [11] in all other places;

14 And many of the brethren in the Lord, waxing confident by my bonds, are much more bold to speak the word without fear.

15 Some indeed preach Chrīst even of envy and [k] strife; and some also of good will:

16 The one preach Chrīst of contention, not sincerely, supposing to add affliction to my bonds:

17 But the other of love, knowing that I am set for the defence of the gospel.

18 What then? notwithstanding, every way, whether in pretence, or in truth, Chrīst is preached; and I therein do rejoice, yea, and will rejoice.

19 For I know that this shall turn to my salvation [l] through your prayer, and the supply of [m] the Spirit of Jē'şus Chrīst,

20 According to my earnest expectation and my hope, that [n] in nothing I shall be ashamed, but that with all boldness, as always, so now also Chrīst shall be magnified in my body, whether it be by life, or by death.

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAUL THE APOSTLE TO TIMOTHY.

CHAPTER 1.

1 Paul's charge to Timothy. 5 Use and end of law. 11 Paul's call.

PAUL, an apostle of Jesus Christ [a]by the commandment [b]of God our Saviour, and Lord Jesus Christ, [c]which is our hope;

2 Unto [d]Timothy, my own son in the faith: Grace, mercy, and peace, from God our Father and Jesus Christ our Lord.

3 As I besought thee to abide still at Ephesus, [e]when I went into Macedonia, that thou mightest charge some [f]that they teach no other doctrine,

4 Neither give heed to fables and endless genealogies, which minister questions, rather than godly edifying which is in faith: so do.

5 Now [g]the end of the commandment is charity [h]out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned:

6 From which some[1] having swerved have turned aside unto vain jangling;

7 Desiring to be teachers of the law; understanding neither what they say, nor whereof they affirm.

8 But we know that [i]the law is good, if a man use it lawfully;

9 [j]Knowing this, that the law is not made for a righteous man, but for [k]the lawless and disobedient, for the ungodly and for sinners, for unholy and profane, for murderers of fathers and murderers of mothers, for manslayers,

10 For whoremongers, for them that defile themselves with mankind, for menstealers, for liars, for perjured persons, and if there be any other thing that is contrary to sound doctrine;

11 According to the glorious gospel of the blessed God, which was committed to my trust.

12 And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, [l]for that he counted me faithful, [m]putting me into the ministry;

13 [n]Who was before a blasphemer, and a persecutor, and injurious: but I obtained mercy, because [o]I did it ignorantly in unbelief.

14 And the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant with faith [p]and love which is in Christ Jesus.

15 This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptation, that [q]Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners; of whom I am chief.

16 Howbeit for this cause I obtained mercy, that in me first Jesus Christ might shew forth all long-suffering, for a pattern to them which should hereafter believe on him to life everlasting.

17 Now unto [r]the King eternal, immortal, [s]invisible, the only wise God, be honour and glory for ever and ever. Amen.

18 This charge I commit unto thee, son Timothy, [t]according to the prophecies which went before on thee, that thou by them mightest war a good warfare;

19 Holding faith, and a good conscience; which some having put away concerning faith have made shipwreck:

20 Of whom is [u]Hymenæus and [v]Alexander; whom I have [w]delivered unto Satan, that they may learn not to blaspheme.

CHAPTER 2.

1 Of prayer and thanks for all. 9 Woman's attire and conduct.

I [1]EXHORT therefore, that, first of all, supplications, prayers, intercessions, and giving of thanks, be made for all men;

2 [a]For kings, and [b]for all that are in [2]authority; that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godliness and honesty.

3 For this is [c]good and acceptable in the sight of God our Saviour;

4 [d]Who will have all men to be saved, [e]and to come unto the knowledge of the truth.

5 For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus;

6 Who gave himself a ransom for all, [3]to be testified [f]in due time.

7 Whereunto I am ordained a preacher, and an apostle, (I speak the truth in Christ, and lie not;) a teacher of the Gentiles in faith and verity.

8 I will therefore that men pray [g]every where, lifting up holy hands, without wrath and doubting.

9 In like manner also, that women adorn themselves in modest apparel, with shamefacedness and sobriety; not with [4]broided hair, or gold, or pearls, or costly array;

10 But (which becometh women professing godliness) with good works.

11 Let the woman learn in silence with all subjection.

12 But I suffer not a woman to teach, nor to usurp authority over the man, but to be in silence.

Phăr'ĭ-seeş were offended, after they heard this saying?

13 But he answered and said, [m] Every plant, which my heavenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted up.

14 Let them alone: [n] they be blind leaders of the blind. And if the blind lead the blind, both shall fall into the ditch.

15 [o] Then answered Pē'tĕr and said unto him, Declare unto us this parable.

16 And Jē'şus said, [p] Are ye also yet without understanding?

17 Do not ye yet understand, that [q] whatsoever entereth in at the mouth goeth into the belly, and is cast out into the draught?

18 But [r] those things which proceed out of the mouth come forth from the heart; and they defile the man.

19 [s] For out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies:

20 These are the things which defile a man: but to eat with unwashen hands defileth not a man.

21 ¶ [t] Then Jē'şus went thence, and departed into the coasts of Tȳre and Sī'dŏn.

22 And, behold, a woman of Cā'năan came out of the same coasts, and cried unto him, saying, Have mercy on me, O Lord, thou son of Dā'vid; my daughter is grievously vexed with a devil.

23 But he answered her not a word. And his disciples came and besought him, saying, Send her away; for she crieth after us.

24 But he answered and said, [u] I am not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Ĭş'rą-el.

25 Then came she and worshipped him, saying, Lord, help me.

26 But he answered and said, It is not meet to take the children's bread, and to cast it to [x] dogs.

27 And she said, Truth, Lord: yet the dogs eat of the crumbs which fall from their masters' table.

28 Then Jē'şus answered and said unto her, O woman, great is thy faith: be it unto thee even as thou wilt. And her daughter was made whole from that very hour.

THE FIRST EPISTLE GENERAL OF PETER.

1 Blessing for spiritual graces. 13 Exhortation to godliness.

PETER, an apostle of Jesus Christ, to the strangers [a]scattered throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia,

2 Elect [b]according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, [c]through sanctification of the Spirit, unto obedience and sprinkling [d]of the blood of Jesus Christ: Grace unto you, and peace, be multiplied.

3 Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his [1]abundant mercy [e]hath begotten us again unto a lively hope [f]by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead,

4 To an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven [2]for you,

5 [g]Who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation [3]ready to be revealed in the last time.

6 [h]Wherein ye greatly rejoice, though now for a season, if need be, ye are in heaviness through manifold temptations:

7 That the trial of your faith, being much more precious than of gold that perisheth, though [4]it be tried with fire, might be found unto praise and honour and glory at the appearing of Jesus Christ:

8 [j]Whom having not seen, ye love; [k]in whom, though now ye see him not, yet believing, ye rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory:

9 Receiving the end of your faith, even the salvation of your souls.

10 [l]Of which salvation the prophets have enquired and searched diligently, who prophesied of the grace that should come unto you:

11 Searching what, or what manner of time [m]the Spirit of Christ which was in them did signify, when it testified beforehand [n]the sufferings of Christ, and the glory that should follow.

12 [o]Unto whom it was revealed, that [p]not unto themselves, but unto us they did minister the things, which are now reported unto you by them that have preached the gospel unto you with [q]the Holy Ghost sent down from heaven; [r]which things the angels desire to look into.

13 Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope [s]to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you [s]at the revelation of Jesus Christ;

14 As obedient children, not fashioning yourselves according to the former

ST. LUKE, 5.

13 And he put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will: be thou clean. And immediately the leprosy departed from him.

14 And he charged him to tell no man: but go, and shew thyself to the priest, and offer for thy cleansing, according as Mō'ses commanded, for a testimony unto them.

15 But so much the more went there a fame abroad of him: and great multitudes came together to hear, and to be healed by him of their infirmities.

16 ¶ And he withdrew himself into the wilderness, and prayed.

17 And it came to pass on a certain day, as he was teaching, that there were Phär'ī-sees and doctors of the law sitting by, which were come out of every town of Gāl'ī-lee, and Jū-dæ'a, and Jē-ru'sā-lēm: and the power of the Lord was present to heal them.

18 ¶ And, behold, men brought in a bed a man which was taken with a palsy: and they sought means to bring him in, and to lay him before him.

19 And when they could not find by what way they might bring him in because of the multitude, they went upon the house top, and let him down through the tiling with his couch into the midst before Jē'sus.

20 And when he saw their faith, he said unto him, Man, thy sins are forgiven thee.

21 And the scribes and the Phär'ī-sees began to reason, saying, Who is this which speaketh blasphemies? Who can forgive sins, but God alone?

22 But when Jē'sus perceived their thoughts, he answering said unto them, What reason ye in your hearts?

23 Whether is easier, to say, Thy sins be forgiven thee; or to say, Rise up and walk?

24 But that ye may know that the Son of man hath power upon earth to forgive sins, (he said unto the sick of the palsy,) I say unto thee, Arise, and take up thy couch, and go into thine house.

25 And immediately he rose up before them, and took up that whereon he lay, and departed to his own house, glorifying God.

26 And they were all amazed, and they glorified God, and were filled with fear, saying, We have seen strange things to day.

27 ¶ And after these things he went forth, and saw a publican, named Lē'vī, sitting at the receipt of custom: and he said unto him, Follow me.

28 And he left all, rose up, and followed him.

29 And Lē'vī made him a great feast in his own house: and there was a great company of publicans and of others that sat down with them.

30 But their scribes and Phär'ī-sees murmured against his disciples, saying, Why do ye eat and drink with publicans and sinners?

31 And Jē'sus answering

THE AUTHORIZED VERSION.

Printed from New Electrotype Plates cast from special new type.

Readers of the Word of God have hitherto always found it difficult to pronounce the many troublesome foreign names occurring in the text. This difficulty has now been overcome by means of a system which divides the words into syllables, and which also shows the accented syllables and indicates the proper sounds of the variable vowels and consonants.

THESE BIBLES CONTAIN THE SAYINGS OF CHRIST PRINTED IN RED.

BOOK OF JUDGES.

CHAPTER 1.

1 Conquests by Judah. 8 Jerusalem taken. 21 The acts of Benjamin. 29 Nations remaining unconquered.

B. C. 1425.

NOW after the death of Jŏsh'u-a it came to pass, that the children of Ĭs'ra-el [a]asked the LORD, saying, Who shall go up for us against the Cā'năan-ītes first, to fight against them?

2 And the LORD said, [b]Jū'dah shall go up: behold, I have delivered the land into his hand.

3 And Jū'dah said unto Sĭm'e-on his brother, Come up with me into my lot, that we may fight against the Cā'năan-ītes; and I likewise will go with thee into thy lot. [c]So Sĭm'e-on went with him.

4 And Jū'dah went up; and [d]the LORD delivered the Cā'năan-ītes and the Pĕr'ĭz-zītes into their hand: and they slew of them in Bē'zek ten thousand men.

5 And they found Ă-dŏn'ī-bē'zek in Bē'zek: and they fought against him, and they slew the Cā'-năan-ītes and the Pĕr'ĭz-zītes.

6 But Ă-dŏn'ī-bē'zek fled; and they pursued after him, and caught him, and cut off his thumbs and his great toes.

7 And Ă-dŏn'ī-bē'zek said, Threescore and ten kings, having [1]their thumbs and their great toes cut off, [2]gathered their meat under my table: [e]as I have done, so God hath requited me. And they brought him to Jĕ-ru'să-lĕm, and there he died.

8 Now the children of Jū'dah had fought against Jĕ-ru'să-lĕm, and had taken it, and smitten it with the edge of the sword, and set the city on fire.

9 And afterward the children of Jū'dah went down to fight against the Cā'năan-ītes, that dwelt in the mountain, and in the south, and in the valley.

10 And Jū'dah went against the Cā'năan-ītes that dwelt in Hē'bron: (now the name of Hē'bron before was Kĭr'ĭ-ăth-ăr'bā:) and they slew Shē'shāi, and Ăh'ĭ-măn, and Tăl'mī.

11 And from thence he went against the inhabitants of Dē'bīr: and the name of Dē'bīr before was Kĭr'ĭ-ăth-sē'phēr.

12 And Căl'ĕb said, He that smiteth Kĭr'ĭ-ăth-sē'phēr, and taketh it, to him will I give Ăch'sah my daughter to wife.

13 And Ŏth'nĭ-ĕl the son of Kĕn'āz, the brother of Căl'ĕb, took it: and he gave him Ăch'sah his daughter to wife.

14 And it came to pass, when she came unto him, that she moved him to ask of her father a field: and she lighted from off her ass; and Căl'ĕb said unto her, What wouldest thou?

15 Who answered him, Give me a blessing: for thou hast given me a south land; give me also springs of water. And Căl'ĕb gave her the upper springs and the nether springs.

16 And the children of the Kē'nīte, Mō'sĕs' father in law, went up out of the city of palm trees with the children of Jū'dah into the wilderness of Jū'dah, which lieth in the south of [o]Ā'răd; [p]and they went and dwelt among the people.

17 And Jū'dah went with Sĭm'e-on his brother, and they slew the Cā'năan-ītes that inhabited Zē'-phath, and utterly destroyed it. And the name of the city was called [q]Hôr'mah.

18 Also Jū'dah took [r]Gā'zà with the coast thereof, and Ăs'ke-lŏn with the coast thereof, and Ēk'rŏn with the coast thereof.

19 And [s]the LORD was with Jū'dah; and [t]he drave out the inhabitants of the mountain; but could not drive out the inhabitants of the valley, because they had [t]chariots of iron.

20 [u]And they gave Hē'bron unto Cā'leb, as Mō'ses said: and he expelled thence the three sons of Ā'năk.

21 [v]And the children of Bĕn'ja-min did not drive out the Jĕb'u-sītes that inhabited Jĕ-ru'să-lĕm; but the Jĕb'u-sītes dwell with the children of Bĕn'ja-min in Jĕ-ru'să-lĕm unto this day.

22 ¶ And the house of Jō'seph, they also went up against Bĕth'-el: and the LORD was with them.

23 And the house of Jō'seph [w]sent to descry Bĕth'-el. (Now the name of the city before was [x]Lŭz.)

24 And the spies saw a man come forth out of the city, and they said unto him, Shew us, we pray

It is highly desirable to read the Bible through from Genesis to Revelation.

A cumulative knowledge of the Scriptures, so valuable in education, is secured and a true perspective of religious history and truth is obtained.

The portions that consist entirely of names and subject matter, wholly devoid of interest to the average reader, are omitted from the Study Course.

The Course is divided into thirty-six lessons and gives both the beginning and ending of each lesson; also the beginning and ending of passages or portions to be read.

Miraculous draught of fishes. Sick of the palsy healed. ST. LUKE 5

978 CHAPTER 5.

1 Christ teacheth out of Peter's ship. 4 A miraculous draught of fishes. 27 Levi called from the receipt of custom.

AND it came to pass, that, as the people pressed upon him to hear the word of God, he stood by the lake of Ḡĕn-nĕs′a-rĕt,

2 And saw two ships standing by the lake: but the fishermen were gone out of them, and were washing their nets.

3 And he entered into one of the ships, which was Sī′mon's, and prayed him that he would thrust out a little from the land. And he sat down, and taught the people out of the ship.

4 Now when he had left speaking, he said unto Sī′mon, Launch out into the deep, and let down your nets for a draught.

5 And Sī′mon answering said unto him, Master, we have toiled all the night, and have taken nothing: nevertheless at thy word I will let down the net.

6 And when they had this done, they inclosed a great multitude of fishes: and their net brake.

7 And they beckoned unto their partners, which were in the other ship, that they should come and help them. And they came, and filled both the ships, so that they began to sink.

8 When Sī′mon Pē′tĕr saw it, he fell down at Jē′sus' knees, saying, Depart from me; for I am a sinful man, O Lord.

9 For he was astonished, and all that were with him, at the draught of the fishes which they had taken:

10 And so was also Jāmes, and John, the sons of Zĕb′e-dee, which were partners with Sī′mon. And Jē′sus said unto Sī′mon, Fear not; from henceforth thou shalt catch men.

11 And when they had brought their ships to land, they forsook all, and followed him.

12 ¶ And it came to pass, when he was in a certain city, behold a man full of leprosy: who seeing Jē′sus fell on his face, and besought him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me clean.

13 And he put forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will: be thou clean. And immediately the leprosy departed from him.

14 And he charged him to tell n man: but go, and shew thyself to th priest, and offer for thy cleansin according as Mō′ses commanded, fo a testimony unto them.

15 But so much the more wer there a fame abroad of him: an great multitudes came together hear, and to be healed by him their infirmities.

16 ¶ And he withdrew himself in the wilderness, and prayed.

17 And it came to pass on a ce tain day, as he was teaching, th there were Phăr′ĭ-sees and docto of the law sitting by, which wer come out of every town of Găl′ĭ-le and Jū′dæ′a, and Jē-ru′sa-lĕm: an the power of the Lord was presen to heal them.

18 ¶ And, behold, men brought a bed a man which was taken with palsy: and they sought means bring him in, and to lay him befo him.

19 And when they could not fin by what way they might bring him i because of the multitude, they wer upon the house top, and let him dow through the tiling with his couch int the midst before Jē′sus.

20 And when he saw their faith he said unto him, Man, thy sins ar forgiven thee.

21 And the scribes and the Phăr′ sees began to reason, saying, Wh is this which speaketh blasphemies Who can forgive sins, but Go alone?

22 But when Jē′sus perceived the thoughts, he answering said unt them, What reason ye in your hearts

23 Whether is easier, to say, Th sins be forgiven thee; or to say Rise up and walk?

24 But that ye may know that th Son of man hath power upon eart to forgive sins, (he said unto th sick of the palsy,) I say unto the Arise, and take up thy couch, and g into thine house.

25 And immediately he rose up be fore them, and took up that whereo he lay, and departed to his ow house, glorifying God.

26 And they were all amazed, an they glorified God, and were fille with fear, saying, We have see strange things to day.

27 ¶ And after these things h went forth, and saw a publica named Lē′vī, sitting at the receipt

ALBERT SHAW LECTURES ON DIPLOMATIC HISTORY.

1899. John H. Latané. The Diplomatic Relations of the United States and Spanish America. 1900. (Out of print.)

1900. James Morton Callahan. The Diplomatic History of the Southern Confederacy. 1901. (Out of print.)

1906. Jesse Siddall Reeves. American Diplomacy Under Tyler and Polk. 1907. 335 pages. 12 mo. $1.75.

This volume discusses the Northeastern Boundary Controversy; the Ashburton Treaty; the Relations between Mexico and the United States, 1825-1843; the Annexation of Texas; the Northwestern Boundary Controversy; the Oregon Treaty; Polk's attempted Negotiation for California; the Outbreak of the Mexican War; the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo.

1907. Elbert Jay Benton. International Law and Diplomacy of the Spanish-American War. 1908. 300 pp. 12 mo. $1.75.

Among the topics discussed are: Cuba and National Policy; American Neutrality, 1895-1897; Abandonment of Non-Intervention Policy; Intervention; Transition from Neutrality to Belligerency; Relations of the Belligerents; Relations between Belligerents and Neutrals; Negotiations of Belligerents during War; Restoration of Peace; Interpretation and Fulfilment of Treaty of Peace.

1909. Ephraim Douglas Adams. British Interests and Activities in Texas, 1838-1846. 1910. 276 pp. 12 mo. $1.75.

This work is the result of extended research in the diplomatic archives of this country and of Great Britain. The author throws new and interesting light on the attitude of the English government toward Mexico, Texas, and the United States during the agitation for Texan independence and annexation. The book is a valuable contribution to the diplomatic questions discussed in part in the previous volume by Reeves on American Diplomacy under Tyler and Polk.

1911. Charles Oscar Paullin. Diplomatic Negotiations of American Naval Officers, 1778-1883. 1912. 380 pp. 12 mo. $2.25.

This work presents a brief but comprehensive study of the service of the navy in the field of diplomacy, from John Paul Jones to Rear-Admiral Schufeldt. The naval officer as a diplomat was distinguished for simplicity, candor, and directness, and as his negotiations were for the most part with far distant oriental peoples, he was often the first to establish permanent relations with the United States.

1912. Isaac J. Cox. The West Florida Controversy, 1798-1813. 1918. 702 pp. 12 mo. $3.00.

The subject involves one of the most intricate problems in American history, and Professor Cox has spared no pains in searching for new sources of information. He has not only availed himself of the collections in Washington and of the material in the Department of Archives and History at Jackson, Mississippi, but he has personally searched the archives at Seville and Madrid.

1913. William R. Manning. Early Diplomatic Relations Between the United States and Mexico. 1916. 418 pp. 12 mo. $2.50.

The writer shows in an interesting way how the British took advantage of our delay in establishing a permanent representative at the Mexican capital to promote British influence over the Mexican government, and how Poinsett's efforts to recover prestige for his government involved him in difficulties and in charges of intermeddling in the internal affairs of the country. The suspicions thus aroused, together with Poinsett's connection with the York Masons, thwarted his efforts to bring to a successful conclusion the treaty negotiations with which he was charged.

1914. Frank A. Updyke. The Diplomacy of the War of 1812. 1915. 504 pp. 12 mo. $2.75.

Then, as now, the United States was the principal neutral power in a war which involved all Europe. The causes of the War of 1812 are clearly set forth. The Treaty of Ghent, the hundredth anniversary of which has recently been celebrated, is the central theme of the latter half of the volume. The negotiations leading to the signing of that treaty are clearly described. The terms of the treaty are examined as well as the questions in dispute which were omitted, and which continued to disturb the relations of the two countries for many years.

1916. Payson Jackson Treat. The Early Diplomatic Relations Between United States and Japan, 1853-1865. 1917. 468 pp. 12 mo. $2.75.

This volume begins with Perry's romantic visit to Japan, and covers in detail the treaty negotiations so ably conducted by the first representatives of the United States, Townsend Harris and Robert H. Pruyn, concluding with the Mikado's sanction of the treaties in 1865. It is a story of absorbing interest told in admirable style.

1921. Percy Alvin Martin. Latin America and the War. 1925. 594 pp. 12 mo. $3.50.

The author is a well known student and writer in the Latin-American field, and he has had access to a vast number of contemporary documents, journals and newspapers published in the various states included within the scope of the volume. Of the twenty Latin-American republics, eight declared war on Germany, five severed relations without declaring war, and seven remained neutral. Pan Hispanism and Yankeephobia each played its part in preventing a realization of that solidarity which has been the aim of Pan-Americanism. The author describes in some detail the reactions to the World War in each of the American republics, and draws a number of interesting conclusions in the final chapter. Among them may be mentioned the increased dependence on their own resources and initiative, the development of trade between the different republics, and the extension of financial and commercial relations with the United States.

1923. Henry Merritt Wriston. Executive Agents in American Foreign Relations. 1929. 886 pp. 12 mo. $5.00.

Executive agents used in the conduct of American foreign relations are especially worthy of study because of a peculiarity in the constitutional structure of the United States. The executive in Europe is, generally speaking, untrammeled in making appointments. The President, on the other hand, is limited in matters of appointment by the Senate. This study seeks to discover how far the executive power in the United States has been able to move outside that trammel in its conduct of foreign relations.

1926. Samuel Flagg Bemis. Pinckney's Treaty: A Study of America's Advantage from Europe's Distress, 1783-1800. 1926. 432 pp. 5 maps. 12 mo. $3.00.

This volume gives a full and clear treatment of an hitherto neglected and obscure period of American diplomacy. It covers our diplomatic relations with Spain from the Revolution to the year 1800. It is supplementary in a way to the author's well known study of "Jay's Treaty" which deals with our own relations with Great Britain during the same period. The two series of negotiations were by no means unrelated, and the signature of Jay's Treaty with England had an important influence on the successful conclusion of the long drawn out negotiations with Spain. While Jay's Treaty is much better known on account of the violent opposition it encountered, Pinckney's Treaty, which was ratified without difficulty and caused no stir in political circles, has been almost overlooked by historians.

1927. Bruce Williams. State Security and the League of Nations. A survey of the movement for State Security from the Treaty of Versailles to the Locarno Conference. 1927. 356 pp. 12 mo. $2.75.

The present volume traces the origins of Articles X and XVI and their subsequent evolution in the debates and reports of the Commissions and Assemblies of the League of Nations. It reviews the efforts at Geneva to create systems of security to supplement the Covenant, namely the Draft Treaty of Mutual Assistance and the Geneva Protocol. The concluding portion of the volume describes the return to the principle of regional pacts of security as evidenced in the Locarno Agreements.

1928. J. Fred Rippy. Rivalry of the United States and Great Britain Over Latin-America. 1808-1830. 1929. 333 pp. 12 mo. $2.75.

The volume deals with the formative period of British and American policies with respect to our southern neighbors. It covers the period from 1808 to 1830. The American documents for this period have been made available to students in Manning's three-volume collection of the "Diplomatic Correspondence of the United States Concerning the Independence of the Latin-American Nations." Professor Rippey has made full use of this collection, but he has supplemented it on the English side by the use of a mass of unpublished British documents.

FROM THE PHYSICAL TO THE SOCIAL SCIENCES.

Introduction to a Study of Economic and Ethical Theory

BY JACQUES RUEFF

Ancien Élève de L'École Polytechnique

Translated by Herman Green, with an Introduction by Herman Oliphant and Abram Hewitt xxxii + 159 pp. 12mo. $2.00.

This book deals with the general problem of adapting the scientific methods of the physical sciences to use in the development of the social sciences. It has been translated because it constitutes a substantial and permanent addition to the little that we know about this problem. How more exact or objective methods of investigation are to be found and employed in the field of the social sciences is a current question of growing importance. Indeed, the next great advance in human thought may be along just this line. The wealth of current literature on the perils in the fact that the development of our mechanical techniques is outrunning the improvement of our social institutions for dealing with the problems, which the machine age is throwing up, indicates the need for an advance in human thought along just this line.

THE HAGUE PEACE CONFERENCES OF 1899 AND 1907.

By JAMES BROWN SCOTT.

Solicitor for the Department of State and Technical Delegate to the Second Conference.

Two volumes. 8vo. $7.00.

Vol. I. The Conferences, 887 pages. Vol. II. Documents, 548 pages.

These two substantial volumes furnish the most complete account of the Conferences which has appeared in English, and will undoubtedly be accepted as the definitive account of the work of those two great gatherings. The fact that the author was the Technical Delegate of the United States to the Second Conference and played a conspicuous part in its deliberations adds to the authoritative value of the treatise.

THE PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE OF INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCES

By FREDERICK SHERWOOD DUNN.

xiv + 230 pages. 8vo. $2.50.

The Practice and Procedure of International Conferences is a study of the conference method viewed as a practical device for the reaching of collective agreement among governments on matters of mutual concern. The origin and development of the process is traced in relation to the changing conditions of international life out of which it has grown. Past practice is examined to discover the underlying factors that control the organization and procedure of international conferences in general. A classification of conferences is undertaken in accordance with their common elements of procedure. The form and practice of a number of typical international conferences of the past are described, with particular relation to their procedural problems and the methods of solving them. Current practice is summarized and the tendencies of its future development are indicated.

CONCEPTS OF STATE, SOVEREIGNTY, AND INTERNATIONAL LAW

With Special Reference to the Juristic Conception of the State.

By JOHANNES MATTERN.

220 pages. 8vo. $2.50.

The present work was first intended to constitute the introductory chapter to the "Principles of the Constitutional Jurisprudence of the German National Republic," but in its final shape it was found to have outgrown its original proportion and to be quite independent in character.

The earlier chapters deal with the causes for the contradictory theories of State and Sovereignty, aiming to show that the absolutist theory of Bodin, the compact theories of Hooker, Hobbes, Locke, and Rousseau, the theory of national and popular Sovereignty of the French Republic, the mixture of the eclectic theories of Kant, Hegel, and Fichte, and even the analytical doctrine of the Austinian School are the result of the personal interests of the individual authors in their particular State systems and in their desire to establish a theory supporting those systems.

The later chapters contain an examination of the juristic conception of the State from the point of view of political reality as it manifests itself in two European trends of political thought heretofore inadequately presented to the American student.

PRINCIPLES OF THE CONSTITUTIONAL JURISPRUDENCE OF THE GERMAN NATIONAL REPUBLIC.

By JOHANNES MATTERN.

698 pages. 8vo. $5.00.

The treatment of this work differs from other English or American books on the new German Constitution in so far as it relies for the interpretation of the constitutional provisions primarily upon the debates in the National Assembly, the debates in the Committee on the Constitution appointed by the Assembly, the decisions of the National Supreme Courts since 1919, the National laws enacted since that time for the elaboration of the more general provisions of the Constitution, and finally, upon reliable newspaper reports showing the application of the Constitution in its bearing upon the political life of the Nation.

FOUR PHASES OF AMERICAN DEVELOPMENT.

FEDERALISM—DEMOCRACY—IMPERIALISM—EXPANSION.

By JOHN BASSETT MOORE.

218 pages. Crown 8vo. $1.50.

The lectures embraced in this volume are designed to sketch in clear and vivid outline the great movements by which the historical development of the United States is distinguished and to indicate the causes to which they were due. The order in which the several topics are discussed is not intended to denote a strict chronological succession; hence they are described as phases rather than as stages of development.

CALHOUN AND THE SOUTH CAROLINA NULLIFICATION MOVEMENT.

By FREDERIC BANCROFT.

206 pages. 12mo. $2.00.

Calhoun has always been more or less of an enigma to students of American history. Starting out on his public career as a nationalist and a liberal, he became during his second term as vice-president the leading champion of State Rights and the exponent of a theory of constitutional interpretation that would have been utterly unworkable, even if it had not led to anarchy. According to his theory a State could "interpose" its veto to prevent the General Government from exercising any contested power, and it would then be the duty of the General Government to abandon the exercise of such power, or to apply to the States, the source of all political authority, for the express grant of the power through constitutional amendment. A State convention would thus supersede the Supreme Court in judging constitutional questions concerning that State.

CHINA—AN ANALYSIS.

By FRANK J. GOODNOW.

298 pages. 12 mo. $2.00.

The author has attempted to picture Chinese life against a European background. The contrast of what have appeared to him to be the salient features of Occidental and Oriental Civilization has helped him to reach conclusions which he ventures to believe are correct with regard to the Chinese problem. It is hoped that this contrast will have the same effect in helping those who read the book in their understanding of a subject which cannot be said to be generally well understood. The volume embraces eight chapters: Physical Characteristics and Origins, Economic, Intellectual, Philosophical, Social, Political, Modern and Future China.

AMERICAN RELATIONS WITH CHINA.

198 pages. Octavo. Paper, $1.00. Cloth, $1.50.

This book is a result of a unique attempt by American citizens to understand their responsibilities to China. Two hundred leaders of organizations formed themselves into a study group, engaged the help of experts, and finally came together for a conference. The fruits of this study and discussion have been brought together in a handy volume, which, with its index and bibliography of books and significant periodical articles, will prove invaluable to every one who is watching the progress of the conferences on customs autonomy and extraterritoriality at Peking.

CHINA AT THE CONFERENCE.

By W. W. WILLOUGHBY.

435 pages. 8vo. $3.00.

Besides chapters explaining the reasons for the discussion by the Powers of the political and international situation in the Far East, describing the organization and procedure of the Conference, and estimating its results, there are chapters dealing severally with each of the important subjects discussed in the Conference and regarding which Treaties or Resolutions were adopted. In an Appendix the texts are given of these important documents.

OPIUM AS AN INTERNATIONAL PROBLEM: THE GENEVA CONFERENCES.

By W. W. WILLOUGHBY.

601 pages. 8vo. $4.50.

This volume, in the nature of a semi-official report, presents, in a comprehensive manner, the fact leading up to the calling of the two Opium Conferences at Geneva, the discussions had in those Conferences and the results reached. The work will be indispensable to all those interested in combating, by international co-operative action, the widespread evils resulting from the abuse of opium and other narcotic habit-forming drugs. To students of international relations the volume will be of especial interest, giving as it does a detailed account of Conferences held under the auspices of the League of Nations and in which the United States Government was officially represented.

FOREIGN RIGHTS AND INTERESTS IN CHINA.

Second Edition

By W. W. WILLOUGHBY.

1190 pages. Octavo. 2 vols. $12.00.

In this new edition of his standard work, Professor Willoughby has not only brought the facts to date and thus included all developments resulting from the Washington Conference and from later events, but has also dealt much more fully with various of the topics included in the first edition. Especially has this last been true with reference to the subjects of extraterritoriality, missionary rights, the Chinese eastern railway, the foreign settlements at Shanghai, American corporations in China, wireless and cables, opium, and the movement for tariff autonomy. In result, the work has been doubled in size. Thus, even more than was the case with regard to the first edition, will Professor Willoughby's work be found indispensable to all those who seek exact and specific information regarding that complexus of foreign rights and interests in China which is the active and continuing cause of China's discontent with her present situation as vis à vis the other Powers.

THE GOVERNMENT OF CHINA (1644-1911)

By PAO CHAO HSIEH

414 pages. Octavo. $3.00.

(Extra Vol. 3, New Series, of J. H. U. Studies in Historical and Political Science)

Previous to the appearance of this work there has been available to Western students no accurate and detailed account of the elaborate administrative system developed by the Chinese during the centuries of their political history,—a system which culminated in that of the Manchu emperors who ruled China from the middle of the seventeenth century to the Revolution of 1911. Although a republican form of government has now taken the place of the imperial one, many of the old administrative agencies and methods have necessarily been retained. Dr. Hsieh's volume is thus not only of great historical interest, but indispensable as a means of understanding present governmental conditions in China.

ADDRESSES

By His Excellency SAO-KE ALFRED SZE, LL.D.
Chinese Minister to the United States.

142 pages. 12 mo. $1.25.

This volume contains five addresses delivered to various audiences by Dr. Sze during the winter of 1925-1926. Dealing, as they do, with a frank and fundamental manner with the present political situation of China, and with the international problems arising out of that situation, these addresses cannot but be of great value to all persons interested in Far Eastern politics. The titles given to the addresses will indicate their scope and some of the topics dealt with: I. The Problem of China; II. The Causes of China's Discontent: How They May Be Removed; III. International Aspects of the Chinese Situation; IV. Extraterritoriality in China. V. China's Unequal Treaties.

THE INTERNATIONAL OPIUM CONFERENCES AT GENEVA:

Statements of the Chinese Delegation.

172 pages. 12 mo. $1.50.

In this volume, Dr. Sao-Ke Alfred Sze who was the head of the Chinese Delegation to the two Conferences, has gathered together all the formal statements made by the Delegations and thus presents in complete, definite and authentic form the views of the Chinese Government with regard to the international problem of regulating the traffic in narcotic habit-forming drugs and controlling the production of the raw materials from which these drugs are manufactured. The statements included in the volume are grouped under appropriate topical heads, and thus enable the reader to obtain an easy comprehension of the character and scope of the general problem. Students of this problem will undoubtedly find it a great convenience to have the views and arguments of the Chinese Government thus authentically and comprehensively presented in a single and compact volume.

THE ROMANIZATION OF AFRICA PROCONSULARIS

By T. R. S. BROUGHTON.

242 pages. 8vo. $2.25.

(Extra Volume 5, New Series, J. H. U. Studies in Historical and Political Science.)

Because Roman monuments and inscriptions have been so well preserved by the sands of North Africa, we are now able to reconstruct in that province the story of Rome's cultural and economic penetration better than elsewhere. The very difficult problem of how far Romanization of the provinces was a result of active work initiated by the home government and how far it was due to native initiative has not yet been successfully solved by historians of Rome. This is the central question of Dr. Broughton's work on North Africa. He has made a careful study of the limited colonization, of free immigration, of commercial activity, of agricultural innovations with particular reference to climatic, geographic and social conditions. He has shown to what extent military protection and road-building made it possible for the nomad tribes to settle down in stable agriculture.

THE INTERNATIONAL ASPECTS OF ELECTRICAL COMMUNICATIONS IN THE PACIFIC AREA

By LESLE BENNETT TRIBOLET.

vii+282 pages. 8 vo. $2.50.

(Extra Vol. 4, New Series, of J. H. U. Studies in Historical and Political Science.)

The political as well as the commercial and cultural importance of adequate and impartial means for international communication is now well recognized. Professor Tribolet, in the present volume, has selected for study an area within which these aspects of electrical communications are of especial interest as regards both the facts and their significance within the field of international politics. The work, it is believed, will be found indispensable to a full understanding of the political and cultural questions arising out of the conflict of national interests in the Pacific.

THE ORDINANCE POWER OF THE JAPANESE EMPEROR

By TOMIO NAKANO.

288 pages. 8 vo. $2.50.

(Extra Vol. 2, New Series, of J. H. U. Studies in Historical and Political Science.)

The present Japanese Government is today the best example of a monarchy in which extensive constitutional powers are vested in the Crown. A critical examination of this Government, from the juristic and political points of view is, therefore, of especial interest both to students of public law and to those who desire an understanding of the public policies and political methods of Japan. Such an examination has been made by Dr. Nakano in the present volume, for, so wide are the ordinance powers of the Emperor, a study of them in all their phases, necessitates a general consideration of the more important features of the entire Japanese constitutional system. Dr. Nakano's conclusions are stated without reservation or undue regard for such opinions current in his country as he believes erroneous. As a result the reader is given an insight into Japan's constitutional and political thought which cannot readily be elsewhere obtained.

Historical Documents
Institut Français de Washington

Cahier I. The Treaties of 1778 and Allied Documents. Edited by G. Chinard. With an introduction by James Brown Scott. 96 pp. Quarto. $2.50.

The purpose of this "Cahier" is to make available the original texts of two epoch-making documents signed in Paris one hundred and fifty years ago, on February 6, 1778, by M. Gérard, on behalf of the King of France, and Benjamin Franklin, Silas Deane and Arthur Lee, on behalf of the Thirteen United States of America.

One was a Treaty of Amity and Commerce negotiated on terms of complete equality, by which the former British colonies were formally recognized as an independent and sovereign power.

By the second, the first and only Treaty of Alliance ever signed by the United States, the two allies mutually engaged: "Not to lay down their arms until the independence of the United States shall have been formally recognized."

Cahier II. Lafayette in Virginia. Unpublished letters from the original manuscripts in the Virginia State Library and the Library of Congress. Edited by Gilbert Chinard. 65 pp. Quarto. Bound in Colonial covers, with a facsimile of Lafayette's letter to Thomas Jefferson under date of October 11, 1784. Quarto. $2.50.

It contains forty-five hitherto unpublished letters written by Lafayette, from February 21 to October 31, 1781, to Thomas Jefferson, General Wayne, Colonel Davis, and Governor W. Nelson. To them have been added a most touching letter addressed to Jefferson on October 11, 1784, when the latter was appointed to succeed Benjamin Franklin in Paris, and a letter addressed to Governor Patrick Henry of Virginia, under date of March 16, 1785.

Cahier III. L'Enfant and Washington, 1791 - 1792. Published and unpublished documents now brought together for the first time by Elizabeth S. Kite. Introduction by J. J. Jusserand, Ambassador of France to the United States (1902-1925). Foreword by Charles Moore, Chairman, National Commission of Fine Arts. 194 pp. Quarto. $3.00.

The Third Cahier of Historical Documents published by the Institut Français de Washington contains many hitherto unpublished letters, not only from Major L'Enfant—who planned the City of Washington and whose plan is now being put into effect—to Washington and Jefferson, but also letters from Washington and Jefferson to him.

THE LITERARY BIBLE OF THOMAS JEFFERSON.

His Commonplace Book of Philosophers and Poets. With an Introduction by Gilbert Chinard.

214 pages. 8 vo. Price $3.50.

This book presents Jefferson the Man as vividly as the recently published Commonplace Book revealed Jefferson the legist, politician and statesman. It is a note-book of his readings which exhibit his whole philosophical and literary background: the maxims which governed his life and fashioned his Stoic mask, and the disciplined flesh and blood beneath, responsive to the beauty of Homer and the antique world, responsive to sentiment but always governed by reason. The volume might be called Jefferson Self-revealed; in default of a diary it constitutes our most intimate portrait of his elusive and fascinating personality, which combined the fine flavor of a classical and European culture with the intense practicality of the modern American. A sympathetic and penetrating Introduction brings out especially the human sides of Jefferson revealed by this long unpublished document; and the passages copied, traced to their sources by the editor, take the reader backward in time as no historian does, authentically as a visit to the lovely formal halls he himself designed at Monticello, magically as a coffer found in an eighteenth century attic, filled with relics from an Age of Reason which was also an Age of the Graces.

THE COMMONPLACE BOOK OF THOMAS JEFFERSON.

A Repertory of His Ideas of Government.

Edited with Introduction and Notes by Gilbert Chinard.

404 pages. Octavo. Cloth, $4.00. Paper, $3.50.

(Extra Vol. 2. Johns Hopkins Studies in Romance, Literatures and Languages.)

The purpose of this publication is to make available to the public a document hitherto unknown which may well be considered as the repertory and source-book of Jefferson's ideas on government. The bulk of the Commonplace Book represents the notes taken by Jefferson on law, political science and religion during his formative years. It is the most important document available for the study of his historical and political background at the time he wrote the Declaration of Independence. It will help to disprove the popular notion that Jefferson was fundamentally an apriorist who too often indulged in hasty generalisations. The abstracts he made of the English jurists and historians and of political thinkers like Lord Kaims, Montesquieu and Beccaria would have enabled him to quote from many authorities in support of his views. The most interesting of all is probably his tracing the development of natural rights to "our Saxon ancestors" and his early ambition to restore in America the primitive liberties of which the people had been deprived through the "Norman conquerors" and "a long line of hereditary kings."

LETTRES INÉDITES.

de Beaumarchais, de Mme de Beaumarchais et de leur fille Eugénie Publiées D'Après les Originaux de la "CLEMENTS LIBRARY" par Gilbert Chinard

148 pages, octavo. Paper, $2.25.

Much new light on Beaumarchais and on the important part he played in the American Revolution is shed by these hitherto unpublished and neglected letters from the Clements Collection at the University of Michigan. Here we can see the versatile genius in his first business venture; in his genial family life—a personality so forceful that his spouse assumes his mannerisms of style and his daughter exhibits his very trait of character; we catch a glimpse of him as the foremost dramatist of his day, since one document concerns the interdiction of Le Barbier de Seville; and finally we realize all that we owe to this first friend of America. Of the highest historical value and significance is the long letter to Thèveneau de Francy, which sets forth the typical difficulties met in Congress by Beaumarchais, who, foreseeing the American break with England, had even before the Declaration of Independence induced France to help the insurgent cause, and obtained the million livres which gave America her first much-needed supplies

THE CREED OF THE OLD SOUTH.

By BASIL L. GILDERSLEEVE.

128 pages. Crown 8vo. $1.25.

The author in the last score of years has often been urged by his friends and sympathizers to reprint his article issued under this title in 1892, and which attracted wider attention than anything he has ever written. In this volume there is now published, in more accessible form, the author's record of views and impressions that may seem strange even to the survivors of that conflict. There is also included an essay on a cognate theme "A Southerner in the Peloponnesian War" which appeared in 1897.

WORKING MANUAL OF ORIGINAL SOURCES IN AMERICAN GOVERNMENT.

(Revised edition.)

By MILTON CONOVER.

178 pages. 8 vo. $1.50.

Essentially a project working manual, it aims primarily to correlate government documents with textbooks as an introduction to the whole field of American Politics; to cultivate a citizen's interest in the realities of political science; and, to utilize the adolescent instincts for creative activity as rapidly as they become stimulated by lectures and readings. Its eighteen chapters involve Farrand's Records of the Federal Convention, Elliot's Debates, The Federalist; Messages of the Presidents; Annual Administrative Reports; the Congressional Directory, Record, Reports, Hearings, and Documents; Statutes at Large and Supreme Court cases that have been discussed in leading textbooks; Proceedings of the National Party Conventions; editorials of ranking newspapers, magazines, and scientific journals; and official documents of State and local governments.

WORKING MANUAL OF CIVICS.

By MILTON CONOVER.

80 pages. 8 vo. Paper, 75 cents; Cloth, $1.00.

This problem book aims to lead the beginning student into the practice of active citizenship. All of the data necessary for the projects may be obtained from the agencies indicated at the beginning of each chapter. Each exercise is adaptable to local needs, whether they be those of the lone student heretofore without a library, or those of the socialized classes of high schools and junior colleges, having access to city libraries. In principle the system is precisely that of the author's Working Manual of Original Sources in American Government which is being used in colleges and universities.

NOTES ON MALTHUS' "PRINCIPLES OF POLITICAL ECONOMY."

By DAVID RICARDO.

Edited with an Introduction and Notes by JACOB H. HOLLANDER and T. E. GREGORY.

364 pages. Octavo. $5.00.

Students of the classical political economy will rejoice to learn that the long missing and much desired manuscript of David Ricardo's "Notes on Malthus" has been recovered, and that through the courtesy of Frank Ricardo, Esq., of Bure Homage, Christchurch, Hants.—a great-grandson of the economist—this work is to be made accessible in convenient reprint. Written in the autumn of 1820 as a commentary upon Malthus' "Principles of Political Economy," the "Notes" was designed by Ricardo as an appendix to the third edition of his own "Principles," then preparing. The counsel of James Mill that Ricardo should avoid giving his treatise too controversial a character, however, prevailed. The manuscript, after having been read by Mill, Malthus, McCulloch and Trower, was withheld from publication, and the commentary—tantalizing references to which are present in Ricardo's correspondence and in McCulloch's prefatory memoir to the "Works"—has remained an important desideratum in the study of the Ricardian economics.

DISTURBING ELEMENTS IN THE STUDY AND TEACHING OF POLITICAL ECONOMY.

By JAMES BONAR.

156 pages. 8vo. Price, $1.00.

This volume consists of five lectures delivered at the Johns Hopkins University in the spring of 1910. As the title suggests, the lectures are discourses not on economic error in general, but on the more subtle fallacies which are apt to invade the reasoning of trained economists in spite of learning and discipline. The lectures are distinguished by the scholarly tone and philosophical breadth that characterize Dr. Bonar's writings.

AMERICAN CITIZENSHIP AND ECONOMIC WELFARE.

By JACOB H. HOLLANDER.

132 pages. 16mo. $1.25.

This volume gives a frank review of the current obligations of the citizen (a) as producer, (b) as employer and (c) as taxpayer. The critical quality of the immediate economic situation is recognized, and an earnest attempt is made to point out how the ordinary citizen of the United States, animated neither by ill-balanced radicalism nor by stolid resistance to change, can at this juncture of affairs and within the range of his normal activities render the largest service to his country and his fellow-men.

THE LIFE AND STORIES OF THE JAINA SAVIOR PĀRCVANĀTHA.

By MAURICE BLOOMFIELD.

266 pages. Octavo. $3.00.

This work contains the fullest extant account of the Jaina Savior Pārçvanātha's life, preceded by nine pre-births, all treated with the care of a chronicle of real life and with the sincerity of devout belief. With this life are interwoven a large number of stories illustrating Jaina morality and doctrine. The Jainas are, perhaps, the best story-tellers of India; the present volume adds to the chain of Hindu fiction books a jewel of no mean price. This work should arrest the attention of students of Comparative Literature and Folklore as well as students of the History of Religion.

FLAUBERT'S YOUTH: 1821-1845

By LEWIS PIAGET SHANKS.

sable to readers who seek the novelist in his mature works, and completed by a final chapter sketching his career after his twenty-fourth year. The book contains the first account in English of Flaubert's earliest novel, in which he rejects Romanticism and outlines his theories of Art.

FRENCH PHILOSOPHIES OF THE ROMANTIC PERIOD.

By GEORGE BOAS.

338 pages, 12 mo. $2.50.

This volume attempts to set the French philosophers of the early nineteenth century against the cultural background of the times. It is written not only for students of philosophy and literature, but for the general reader as well. The period is one which has been neglected by historians of philosophy in spite of its importance in the development of French thought.

A HISTORY OF FRENCH DRAMATIC LITERATURE IN THE SEVENTEENTH CENTURY

Part I

The Pre-Classical Period, 1610 - 1634.

By HENRY CARRINGTON LANCASTER.

Two Volumes 785 pages. Crown octavo. $10.00.

This is the first part of a work that is intended to cover the history of plays written in France during the seventeenth century in greater detail than has ever hitherto been attempted. The years 1610-1634, the period discussed in these two volumes, have a peculiar interest, owing to the fact that it was then that Corneille, the first French dramatist of international importance, learned his art; that the classical system, which was to exert a profound influence throughout Europe for two centuries, was established in France; that acting became for the first time highly developed; and that professional troupes became well organized and definitely associated with Parisian theaters. Over 250 plays have survived, including most French pastorals, a large number of tragedies and tragi-comedies, and over 30 comedies and farces. Practically all of these are analyzed, their salient characteristics are pointed out, and much information is given about their sources, characters, style, and structure. The quotation of a large number of passages is helpful, as many of the plays are inaccessible except in the leading Parisian libraries. A great deal of information is given about dramatists and the history of the stage is related to the political and social history of the times. A final chapter is devoted to theaters, stage decorations, actors, and actresses.

It will be noted that while the author hopes to continue this history until he has reached the end of the century, the present work forms a unit in itself and is consequently accompanied by a list of the extant plays discussed and an extensive index.

Bibliography and Hints for Study.

THE JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY STUDIES IN ARCHAEOLOGY.

No. 1. The Roman Toga. By Lillian M. Wilson. 132 pp. 102 illustrations. Quarto. Cloth $5.00.—The volume gives a connected history of the Roman Toga, as read from the monuments and from Latin literature, from the date of the earliest extant representations of it in the art of the Republican period, down to the last days of Roman authority in the Byzantine capital. 1. Diagrams of drawings giving the shape of each form of toga, and schedules of measurements and proportions referring to these diagrams. 2. Each form of the toga and the process of draping are illustrated on the living model and fully explained in the text. The volume contains 102 illustrations, and over 40 of these are of the living models. 3. The book contains practical suggestions to teachers and students regarding the making of the toga, materials that may be successfully used, color, etc.

No. 2. The History and Civilization of Ancient Megara. By E. L. Highbarger. 234 pp. 8vo. Paper $2.50; cloth $3.00.—This volume contains fifteen chapters dealing with topography and monuments, cults and history from the earliest times to the end of the Hellenistic period. The author has attempted to give, as completely as possible, a continuous account of the development of one of the most important of the Greek city-states. In doing this he has used the ancient traditions, inscriptions, the results of modern excavation and the rather abundant general archaeological material in addition to the writers of classical antiquity. The study is, therefore, an attempt to set forth the political, religious, economic and cultural evolution of ancient Megara as an important center of activity at all times. The numerous notes give very completely the evidence upon which the statements of the text are based.

No. 3. Ancient Sicyon With a Prosopographia Sicyonia. By Charles H. Skalet. 234 pp. 8vo. Paper $2.50; cloth $3.00. This volume aims to present a complete and connected account of this once famous Greek city-state. The work contains twelve chapters dealing with the topography and monuments of the city, its industries and commerce, political history, sculptors and painters, religious cults and civilization, and is concluded with a prosopographia. The author has drawn his information from the statements of ancient writers, inscriptions, reports of excavations on the site, general archaeological material and accounts of recent travellers. The volume is provided with notes and an index and a number of the buildings and sites discussed in the first chapter are illustrated.

No. 4. The Negro in Greek and Roman Civilization: A Study of the Ethiopian Type. By Grace Hadley Beardsley. 154 pp., 24 illustrations. 8vo. Cloth $3.50. This volume shows that the negro type was popular in classical art from the sixth century B. C. to the second century A. D., its widest use occurring in plastic vases of the fifth century and Hellenistic figurines. The chapters are chronologically arranged and discuss the particular adaptation of the type in each epoch, covering the fields of vases, jewelry, statuettes of bronze and terra-cotta, lamps, weights and other minor objects. A splendid plastic vase type of which there are many duplicates is identified as the work of Charinus.

The social attitude of the ancients toward the negro race is discussed in connection with the references in Greek and Latin literature. There is shown to be an absence of race prejudice among the Greeks but a pronounced prejudice at Rome. The Greek attitude is traced to the literary tradition of the mythical Ethiopians in the Homeric poems, and the gradual identification by the Greeks of the mythical Ethiopian with the African Ethiopian is demonstated.

No. 5. Les Cultes de Patras. By Jules Herbillon. Octavo, Cloth $3.00 This is a volume of 199 pages in French by a well-known Belgian scholar. It gives a sketch of the ancient history of the sea-port town of Patras and contains a list of all persons from Patras. But it especially considers in detail all the cults at Patras from prehistoric to late Roman days. They are very interesting, as is to be expected at a seaport which had connections with all parts of the ancient world. The volume is a new important contribution to ancient history and religion and should appeal to all students of the Classics.

No. 6. Excavations at Olynthus. Part I. The Neolithic Settlement. By George E. Mylonas. 126 pp. Two colored plates. Ninety-four other plates with illustrations. Quarto. Cloth $7.50. This volume is a final and complete publication of all the neolithic finds made in the excavations conducted at Olynthus by The Johns Hopkins University under the auspices of the American School of Classical Studies in Athens, in which Dr. Mylonas himself took part. This settlement dates earlier than the earliest city found by Schliemann at Troy, at least 3000 B. C. It is the first neolithic side to be thoroughly excavated and published in Macedonia, and many of the finds are unique, such as the only neolithic kiln yet found in Greece. The pottery includes monochrome ware with black shiny or red slipped surface, incised ware with linear and curvilinear patterns, and painted vases, many pieces beautiful and unique. A zoomorphic vase is the earliest of its kind in Greece. Ten marble, stone and clay idols of the amorphous standing type which represent the Mother Goddess are the earliest found in Macedonia, and they throw much light on the history of early Greek religion.

THE ECLOGUES OF BAPTISTA MANTUANUS.

Edited with Introduction and Notes.
By WILFRED P. MUSTARD.
156 pages. Crown 8vo. $1.50.

The text is based upon that of the first printed edition, of Mantua, 1498. The Introduction treats of the life of Mantuan, his family and friends, his works, his popularity, the wide use of his Eclogues as a school-book, and their influence upon Sixteenth Century literature. The Notes are mainly devoted to the poet's use of his great classical models.

THE PISCATORY ECLOGUES OF JACOPO SANNAZARO.

Edited with Introduction and Notes.
By WILFRED P. MUSTARD.
94 pages. Crown 8vo. $1.25.

These Latin Poems are very clever imitations, or adaptations, of some of Virgil's Bucolics. The Virgilian conventions are so far modified that the pastoral eclogue becomes a piscatory eclogue, or an idyl of fishermen. The singers are no longer shepherds, but fishermen, and the scene is no longer Sicily, or Acadia, but the Bay of Naples.

THE ECLOGUES OF FAUSTUS ANDRELINUS AND JOANNES ARNOLLETUS.

Edited with Introduction and Notes.

By WILFRED P. MUSTARD.

123 pages. Crown 8vo. $1.50.

The name of Faustus Andrelinus is less familiar than that of either "good old Mantuan" or Sannazaro; he never enjoyed the fame and the influence of the one, he never approached the high poetic plane of the other. And yet in his own day and generation he was a very important personage. One of the Italian scholars who helped to spread the New Learning in France, professor for many years in the University of Paris, the intimate friend of Erasmus, the special protégé of the King and Queen—diu regnavit Lutetiæ. His Eclogues are always readable, because they contain a certain amount of autobiography, and reflect many of his own experiences in Italy and France. They are interesting because of their "moral" tone, with occasional bits of proverbial wisdom and frequent echoes of the great Roman Satirists. And they hold an important place in the tradition of the Pastoral, because of their frequent imitation of Calpurnius and Nemesianus—at a time when these two poets were not very widely read.

THE ECLOGUES OF ANTONIO GERALDINI.

Edited with Introduction and Notes.

By WILFRED P. MUSTARD.

84 pages. Crown 8vo. $1.50.

"The main subject of the poems is the story of the Life of Christ. The last three deal with the Apostles' Creed, the Last Judgment, and the Life of the Blessed in the Hereafter. One interesting feature is their free use of the language and imagery of Ovid."

AENEAE SILVII DE CVRIALIVM MISERIIS EPISTOLA

Edited, with introduction and notes, by WILFRED P. MUSTARD.

102 pages. 12 mo. $1.50.

This Latin text is not very familiar, because it has not been very generally accessible, and the early editions are not easy to read. They employ a good many of the ligatures and abbreviations which they took over from the mediaeval manuscripts or from the handwriting of their own day. They usually print the treatise in one long unbroken paragraph, though it makes more than thirty close-packed quarto pages. And they display all the joyous abandon of the early printer in such matters as punctuation and the use of capitals. Still it is an interesting document, if only because of its connection with the early English pastoral.

SIR THOMAS MORE AND OTHER VERSE.

By CAROL WIGHT.

116 pages. Crown 8vo. $1.50.

The publication of the verse included in this volume is in part an outgrowth of the activities of the Kottabos Club, a small circle of men associated in one way or another with the Johns Hopkins University and Goucher College who meet periodically to share their literary interests. To this group of friendly critics many of Dr. Wight's poems and stories, since published in the Atlantic Monthly, in The Johns Hopkins Alumni Magazine, and in other periodicals, were first offered; and it is largely to gratify their desire to see them given a permanent form and a wider circle of readers that this collection has been made. Contents: Sir Thomas More, A Tragedy; Fog; In Port; Sea Pines;

Shipwreck; The Derelict; Night and Day; The Sextant, A Ballad; The Casting of the Screw; Kepler's Death; Edward H. Spieker: In Memoriam; Kirby Flower Smith: In Memoriam; To Basil L. Gildersleeve, Sestina; To Revere Osler, Sestina; Drowned, Sestina; Eternity, Sestina; The Prophet (Woodrow Wilson); Pantheism; Fixed Stars; Days That are Dead; Violets; The Wild Rose; Mignon, from Goethe; The Broken Vase, from Sully Prudhomme; At the Tomb of His Brother, from Catullus; My Wallflower, from the Norwegian of Wergeland.

TEACHING AND EDUCATIONAL THEORY IN THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

MANUAL FOR A LABORATORY COURSE IN EDUCATION.

By AGNES SNYDER.

64 pages. Octavo. 80 cents.

The manual here presented was planned to furnish the students in Education at the summer session of Johns Hopkins University with a guide for their observations in the elementary grades of the Demonstration School as would direct their attention to the basic features of the school. Prior to the formulation for this purpose, the plan had been used in its essential features in directing the observations of students in Education during the regular winter session of the University of Delaware. The plan is based upon two assumptions: 1st. That education is a science; 2nd. That, as a science, its laws can be taught most effectively by a laboratory method in which generalizations are made as a result of observation and comparison. In the present instance, the Demonstration School is the laboratory and the Conference Hour, at which all observers assemble daily, the clearing house for the interpretation of the observations made in the Demonstration School. In the Conference Hour and through the assigned readings and directions for observation, the students are oriented to the school situation; in the Demonstration School, observations are made and data collected; again, in the Conference Hour, the observations made are discussed, compared and interpreted, and, when the data are sufficient, generalizations are made as a result of the discussion, comparison, and interpretation.

VECTOR ANALYSIS AND THE THEORY OF RELATIVITY.

By FRANCIS D. MURNAGHAN.

135 pages. 8vo. $2.75.

This introduction to the Theory of Relativity is intended for readers possessing a sound knowledge of Algebra and Calculus. The general subject of Vector (or Tensor) Analysis is introduced in a natural and somewhat novel manner. The author hopes "to make it clear that the methods of the 'Mathematics of Relativity' are applicable to, and necessary for, Theoretical Physics in general and will abide even if the Theory of Relativity has to take its place with the rejected physical theories of the past."

TABLES OF $\sqrt{1-r^2}$ AND $1-r^2$ FOR USE IN PARTIAL CORRELATION AND IN TRIGONOMETRY.

By JOHN RICE MINER.

50 pages. 8vo. Paper covers $1.00; cloth $1.50.

These tables fill a want long felt by practical workers in all branches of statistics. Everyone who uses the method of correlation has wished for tables from which the probable error of a coefficient of correlation could be obtained with accuracy. Similar tables to this have existed on a small scale, but never before have there been available tables of $1-r^2$ and $\sqrt{1-r^2}$ to 6 places of decimals, and 4 places in the argument.

TERRESTRIAL MAGNETISM AND ATMOSPHERIC ELECTRICITY.

Concave gratings having 10,000 to 20,000 lines to the inch were used in making these photographs. Two photographs have been made of the B and D lines. The latter are 3 inches apart, and the former has an extent of about 24 inches. Four enlargements of some of the carbon bands from the arc electric light have also been made. These photographs will be sold for $3.00 each.

IX: The Causation of Tuberculosis and the Measures for its Control in England.
X: Child Welfare Work in England.

A BOOK OF PORTRAITS OF THE FACULTY OF THE MEDICAL DEPARTMENT OF THE JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY.

By DORIS ULMANN.

Containing thirty-seven photographs, reproduced in photogravure on English hand-made paper, 10½x15½ inches. Price, $20.00.

In this Book of Portraits by Doris Ulmann, The Faculty of the Medical Department of The Johns Hopkins University is presented for the first time, in a series of photographic portraits.

In these portraits, charmingly artistic and richly done, the character and personality of each member is grasped with an intimate touch in surroundings of study, office or laboratory with none of the conventional trappings or artificial posing of the professional studio.

This book of portraits contains many of those outstanding figures responsible for much of modern American medicine who were long identified with The Medical Department of The Johns Hopkins University and are here happily recorded in the finest photographic art. In composition, light and shade, these portraits are as finely done as etchings.

To Our Customers

IN the days of the Chicago World's Fair the publishing house of Laird & Lee leapt into quick prominence with "Aunt Jemima and Uncle Jerry at the World's Fair," which was an enchanting bit of story-telling full of pictures and local color. "Glimpses of the World's Fair" also caught the public fancy and through the sales of these books the name of Laird & Lee became known from coast to coast.

The decade following resulted in the appearance of a most complete line of dictionaries ("The Laird & Lee Vest Pocket Dictionary" was one of the first of its kind to appear) quickly followed by a host of handbooks, compendiums of the various trades. Accuracy in content and usefulness in size and make-up were the keynotes of the editorial policy. Later came dictionaries—elementary, intermediate, common school, high school and collegiate editions—authoritative and beautifully bound. Dictionaries in French, Spanish, Italian, Swedish, Danish, Norwegian, German—as well as in English—were published to meet a constant demand.

Because there is no standing still, either for the individual or for a business, this publishing house sought new channels for growth — and gay diaries in unique leather bindings, memory books, graduation books, brides' books, baby books appeared to brighten the GIFT BOOK LINE of the discriminating dealer. Charming art work and unusual bindings gave them a personality all their own.

Possibly the most significant step of all that has been taken came two years ago when Laird & Lee was merged with Laidlaw Brothers, which for some time has been well established in the educational field. To the educational world, Laidlaw Brothers needs no introduction.

All the resources of this educational publishing house were placed at the disposal of Laird & Lee, which in turn has become the Trade Department of Laidlaw Brothers. The complete line is available—all the publications which made a Laird & Lee salesman welcome everywhere he went. Gift books and novelty books are being added rapidly, of the kind your customers will want the moment they see them.

Last Spring we announced still another sign of progress—a line of juveniles. THE TOPAZ SEAL, THE TREASURE OF BELDEN PLACE, and ME AND ANDY were the first three books to be published. They were announced with a four color folder from coast to coast and were advertised in national magazines. Reviews from the most discriminating book page editors indicate that they are the stories children like—and parents like to buy.

"SCALLY" ALDEN and THE CAT IN GRANDFATHER'S HOUSE are now ready. An extremely active editorial policy promises many more books "Good To Grow On," the apt slogan of this juvenile line. Unusual art work, effective jackets, and many new ideas in binding make them the sort of books that sell themselves. TO DISPLAY THEM IS TO SELL THEM.

We shall continue to give our customers the same personal interest we have given them in the past, coupled with an ever-increasing list of quick-selling quality books for all branches of the trade. It is our intention in the future to provide the trade with all possible assistance. Direct mail, newspaper and magazine advertising, posters and displays, will all create an active reader interest.

NEW JUVENILES

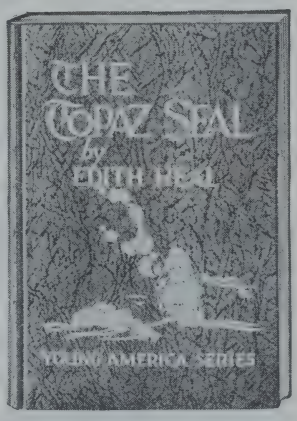
The YOUNG AMERICA SERIES of Historical Juveniles

. . . Something new for children

¶ The first volume of Young America, a series of Historical Juveniles dealing with life in the United States from Colonial to Civil War days, is off the press. The series will grow from year to year and when completed will touch practically every important epoch in our national life. The conditions of the period will become a part of the tale, and the reader, in the midst of narrative interest, will all unconsciously absorb facts of definite informational value. It is the plan to show the high spots of our country's history in panoramic view—yet tell the story with the snap and enthusiasm that will sell the books for their own sake as well as for the valuable information contained in them.

The TOPAZ SEAL

. . . by Edith Heal



¶ This is the first volume of the series of historical juveniles to be known as "Young America".

¶ "Life in the 'Lost Colony' of Roanoke, near old Jamestown, Va., in Pre-Revolutionary days, when the 'King's Business' was all important for loyal colonists of any age, is the setting for this adventure tale for young readers. Nancy Wainman, winsome damsel, is the heroine, and the boys are Dale, the venturesome, and Miles, whose capers and pranks help to get them into—and out of—an enchanting series of adventures. Spanish spies, a lost and very important map, an Indian chieftain, Parahunt, and the topaz seal itself, afford material for an exciting plot in this, the first of a series of historical juveniles, entitled Young America. Pictures in color by Marjorie Stempel."

—Buffalo Courier Express.

¶ For sheer narrative interest this is a mystery tale of the first order. Six full page color plates, a soft blue Spanotone binding stamped in green, with a paper jacket in four colors, gives the touch of mechanical perfection so necessary in this day of attractive juveniles. National advertising is creating a certain demand for The Topaz Seal. Size 5¼x7½, 294 pp.

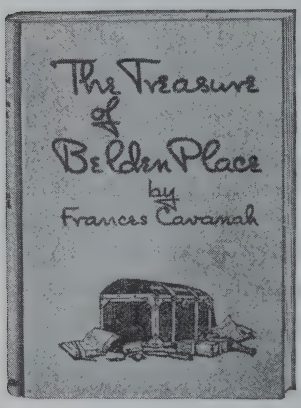
THE IS THE SIGN OF A NEW BOOK

The TREASURE of BELDEN PLACE

. . . by Frances Cavanah

(This story appeared recently as a serial in "Child Life")



¶ One of the most enticing treasures of any juvenile library! And a mystery story of lost heirlooms that is full of thrills. A search for a hidden treasure in a rambling old home of Civil War days is a plot that is full of possibilities.

¶ "Any girl just next door to her teens will enjoy this story—'a mystery story' the author calls it; but nevertheless not sensational. It is a nice well-bred mystery and one that is most interesting. Patty and Patsy, cousins, named for the same grandmother, spend a summer alone with the housekeeper and gardener in that grandmother's old home; they have a tree-top house; they find two very interesting children to play with, find them in a secret chamber. They help in a neighbourhood play and finally they discover their grandmother's lost jewels.

¶ It is a delightful story and exceedingly well written; the characters are loveable and realistic and the atmosphere of the old home happy and blithesome."

—Boston Evening Transcript.

¶ Strikes the keynote of mystery and suspense which makes it a children's "best seller" of the first rank. Size 5¼x7½, 208 pp.

The Treasure of Belden Place.....$1.25

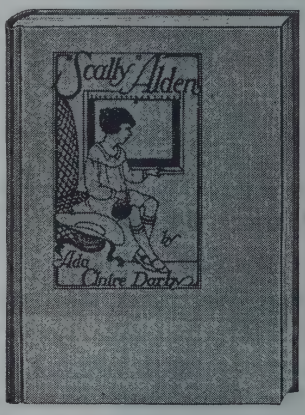
"SCALLY" ALDEN

. . . by Ada Claire Darby

Author of "Pinafores and Pantalettes" and "Skip-Come-A-Lou"

¶ "Scally" Alden is a second Polly Pepper—and there is the same opportunity to create an interested circle of friends for her—and a rush of orders when the second book about her appears. Scally Alden is one of the dearest little girls of ten ever created in bookland. The whole Alden family is delightful, too. An older sister, Ann, is in the state university; a big brother who is a naval officer sends huge boxes home from China for Christmas; there are two "middle brothers," and cheery little Mrs. Alden "brings them all up well."



¶ Scally earns enough money for a long summer vacation; she learns to swim and row and gets lost in the woods; she shops in Chicago—and makes friends everywhere she goes.

¶ She's a peppy little person—full of personality—and you'll find a warm welcome awaiting her by all your juvenile readers. Give her a position of honor on your shelves, and help her to make friends. The second book of the series is in preparation. You will eventually sell several books about her when you're selling this one. Size 5¼x7½.

Scally.....$1.50

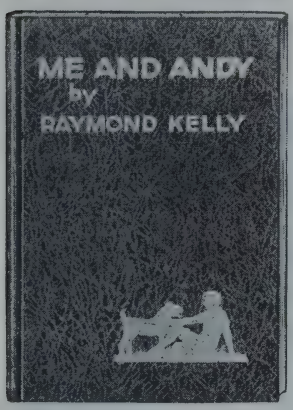
ME and ANDY

. . . by Raymond Kelly



¶ A boy-and-dog story of today, so compellingly human that it may well be termed Tom Sawyer up-to-date!

¶ " 'Me and Andy' is a typical all-around American book for boys and girls of all ages.

¶ I think it is a real story-book that comes to life as you read it.

¶ In nearly all books you will find things that are improbable, likewise uninteresting, but in 'Me and Andy' the events are just the sort that come in any American boy's life. Jack Bradford, hero of the story, has a dog, an Airedale, that is as big as a small horse, but he is Jack's best pal and has no kicks coming to him. In 'Me and Andy' many of the incidents are funny . . . .

—(Review by 14-year older) Chicago Evening Post.

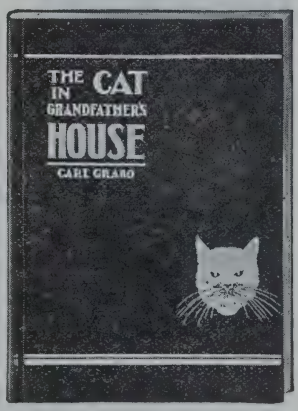
¶ The story is told in the first person with a touch of pathos—and with it all a lovable boyish candor—that will win friends at every turn. There are six full page color plates and nine sketches within the text. Bound in black and green Spanotone, stamped in green. Paper jacket in four colors with decorative green end sheets. Size 5¼x7½.

Me and Andy.....$1.25

The CAT in GRANDFATHER'S HOUSE

. . . by Carl H. Grabo



¶ A delightful tale of sheer fancy for children from seven to seventy! Hortense goes to visit her grandparents in their old home—and there she has amazing adventures with a startling collection of animated furniture—the Alligator Sofa, Low Boy, High Boy, the Fire Dogs (Coal and Ember) and other furniture folk literally stuffed with personality. These, together with a boy named Andy, are all her staunch friends against a sinister cat, one Jeremiah, and his partner in crime, a villainous nutmeg Grater who dashes about scratching himself on people.

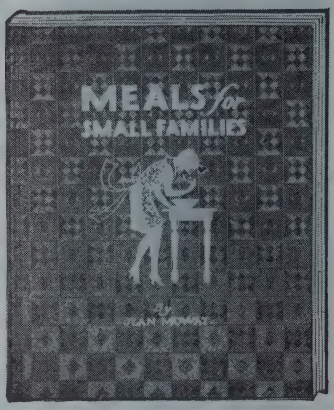
¶ It is whimsical and full of irresistible humor. The book will have instant appeal to grown-ups and children, and all the stages in between, for if this story does not carry the reader far from the worries of our own world, no book ever will.

The Cat in Grandfather's House.....$1.50

HOUSEHOLD BOOKS

MEALS for SMALL FAMILIES

. . . by Jean Mowat



¶ "This book is written with special recognition of the problems confronting the kitchenette-apartment dweller and provides information in quick and easy methods for food preparation in small quantities. Then, too, there are 'specialty' recipes for mechanical refrigeration, oven-baked dinners and canned foods. The book is happily free from extreme fads and fancies in food recipes and hews to the line of scientific and sane cookery."

—Boston Globe.

¶ Miniature kitchens and time crowded to the utmost have made the old methods of cookery impossible. Electric refrigeration and the gas range, equipped with heat control, have brought welcome "short cuts" to delicious meals. Directions for their preparation and successful service are here given. For the inexperienced this book is a necessity—to the experienced cook it is an inspiration. They can both use it—and use it to advantage.

¶ Delightful animated silhouettes give flavor to the recipes, of which there are some six hundred.

¶ 192 pp. Size 6x8¼, bound in washable patterned Fabrikoid, in three brilliant kitchen colors—green, blue and rose; stamped in gold. Price, $2.00.

DIARIES AND ADDRESS BOOKS

DE LUXE DIARIES

". . . but not forgotten."

¶ New and unusual effects in bindings! Delightful colors—some as dainty as the lining of the pocketbook into which the tiniest one must fit—others as conservative as the dull oak desk in the private office on which they will lie. Royal purple, black, dark brown, tan, and gray join hands with blue, coral, and jade green to welcome the most recent arrival, "opal snake."

¶ The graining, too, is different; cloud suede is the new moire effect in suede leather; Palm Beach is the new tiny conventionalized daisy in an all-over pattern. You will find the standard line of diaries and address books become novelty best-sellers when they are displayed in their new and colorful bindings. These are all stamped in genuine gold leaf and come in white enamel boxes.

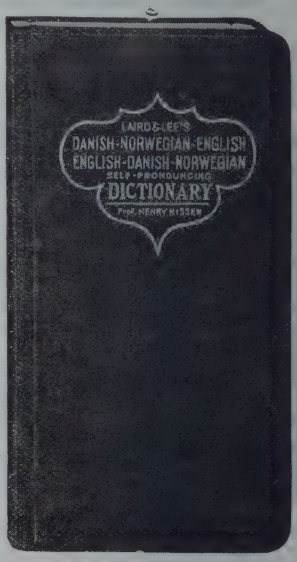
DANISH-NORWEGIAN-ENGLISH ENGLISH-DANISH-NORWEGIAN SELF-PRONOUNCING DICTIONARY

. . . by Jenry Nissen



¶ The value and merit of this dictionary will readily be appreciated. Its two-fold design is to fill a long-felt need for a self-pronouncing dictionary of hip-pocket size and to give the Danish-Norwegian population a system which will minimize the difficulties of studying the English language. Also, in Part II a key to Danish-Norwegian pronunciation is provided in addition. Encyclopedic Features, Irregular Verbs, Conversation, Weights and Measures, Naturalization Laws and How to Become a Citizen.

NEW PUBLICATION—Telling of "Old Glory's" Last Days in Sail

THE DOWN-EASTERS

By Basil Lubbock

THIS notable new book by the eminent maritime authority is devoted entirely to the story of the famous Yankee round-the-Horn clippers and sail carriers of the 70's, 80's and 90's, known to the shipping world as the "down-easters." The author had originally intended to include the story of the "down-easters" in his work "The Last of the Windjammers," but found such a wealth of absorbing data on these renowned American sailing ships that he was compelled to devote a separate volume wholly to this subject.

"The Down-Easters" will be handsomely illustrated with 110 fine plates showing the beautiful Yankee clippers, of which 43 are full-page. There are four plans, including line and sail plans of the "Great Republic" and "Young America," and about 290 pages of most interesting text.

8vo (approximately $8\frac{1}{2}$ x $5\frac{7}{8}$ inches); blue cloth, gilt top; Boxed.

Tentative price $7.50 net

One of the Most Remarkable Works on the Sailing Ship Ever Published

THE LAST OF THE WINDJAMMERS

Complete in Two Volumes

By Basil Lubbock

FROM the day of its publication "The Last of the Windjammers" has been hailed as a monumental achievement in marine history. Chronicling the last golden days of the Era of Sail, it tells the fascinating story of the old-time sailing ships, their officers, crews, owners and builders.

Upon this great work the eminent marine authority Lubbock has lavished the fruits of life-long study and practical experience with the sea. He shows how sea life in the last 50 years differed from that of the Elizabethan and other early periods, contrasts the seamanship of wood and hemp with that of steel and wire, and surveys all the ranks in sail. Exciting events in the careers of famous sailing ships are graphically narrated.

Illustrated with over 400 fine halftone plates, mostly photographs of famous ships and scenes at sea, showing every phase of sailing ship development treated; many sail, rigging, sheer and deck plans; appendices giving hull measurements, etc., and a complete index of ships, owners and captains.

Complete in 2 volumes, bound in either of the two styles below:

Two volumes, royal 8vo (10 x $7\frac{1}{2}$ x $1\frac{1}{4}$ inches), each volume bound in two parts for convenient handling; blue cloth, gilt tops; boxed. $30.00 net

The Handsome Modern Reprint of a Great Sea Classic

ANSON'S VOYAGE AROUND THE WORLD, 1740-1744

Made by George Anson, Commander-in-Chief of a Squadron of His Majesty's Ships Sent Upon an Expedition to the South Seas. Compiled from Papers and Other Material of the Rt. Hon. George, Lord Anson, and Published under His Direction, by Richard Walter, M. A., Chaplain of H. M. S. "Centurion," Flagship of the Expedition. Edited, with an Introduction, by G. S. Laird Clowes.

Containing reproductions of the 42 original plates and charts and additional illustrations, including portraits of Admiral Anson and other famous English seamen of the time, models of 18th century British and Spanish men-of-war, the burning of Payta, Scott's painting of the battle with the Manila treasure-ship, the treasure arriving at the Tower of London, etc.

Here is the thrilling narrative of the second voyage around the globe made by Englishmen—an exploit that for suffering and loss of life, dogged determination and grim heroism, is almost without parallel in sea annals. Never did man battle disaster and death with more unflinching courage than did Anson's expedition on this terrible four-year cruise.

Commodore George Anson (afterwards made Admiral and head of the British navy) left England in the fall of 1740 with eight ships and 1500 men to attack Spanish shipping and settlements on the west coast of the Americas. Off Cape Horn a succession of frightful storms met them, and for three months they were battered and hurled about by roaring seas. So furious and incessant were the westerly gales that it seemed they would never reach the South Pacific. For 58 consecutive days they fought for life under reefed topsails, and then on the heels of storm came deadly scurvy. Men weakened and died in dozens, and when at last Anson's flagship, the "Centurion," limped alone into sight of hospitable Juan Fernandez off the Chilean coast, half his crew of 400 had perished and only two quartermasters and six seamen had strength enough to work the ship.

How the indomitable Anson mastered these crushing disasters; took rich Spanish prizes in the South Pacific; sacked and burned the city of Payta, Peru; fought and captured in Philippine waters a great galleon bearing Mexican treasure worth over a million dollars; and finally returned in safety around the Cape of Good Hope to England, forms one of the most absorbing sea tales ever penned.

This Special Edition of "Anson's Voyage" is limited to 1500 copies. There will be no other edition. In paper, format and beauty of illustration and printing it is a worthy companion to our handsome limited edition of "The Yacht America." Dark blue and gold binding, with collotype and halftone plates printed on special paper. 8vo ($9\frac{1}{2}$ x $6\frac{1}{2}$).....$12.00 net

OVER 70 FINE LARGE PLATES, INCLUDING 4 IN COLORS

OLD SAILING SHIPS OF NEW ENGLAND

A collection of reproductions of old paintings of clipper ships that once sailed from New England ports in the palmy days of the American Merchant Marine. Comprising over 70 half-tone plates, printed in double-tone ink and including 4 in colors, on special prepared paper, with descriptive text opposite each plate, and an index. Oblong 4to. ($11\frac{1}{2}$ x $9\frac{1}{2}$ in.). Neatly bound in cloth (boxed). $5.00 net

In the earlier days of our Republic, America started a Merchant Marine, which in the decade from 1850 to 1860 stood at the forefront of the world's maritime activities.

In those days, at the ports of Salem, Newburyport, Marblehead and Portsmouth were received and sent all over this country immense cargoes from the treasure houses of the Orient.

The deeds and achievements of the Clipper Ships of that decade still live in song and story. Many of the old Captains are still living and the fortunes of many of the old families of Salem and Newburyport had their beginning, literally, in these ships.

THE RIDDLE OF THE SANDS

A stirring tale of adventure in the North Sea. By Erskine Childers. Illustrated with full-page and folding maps, being reproductions from British and German Admiralty charts. Large 12mo. ($7\frac{1}{2}$ x 5 in.). Cloth, gilt top. $2.00 net

AUTHORIZED AMERICAN EDITION of a book that was characterized by John Buchan as "THE BEST STORY OF ADVENTURE PUBLISHED IN THE LAST QUARTER OF A CENTURY."

"A mystery story that for vivid and sustained interest, fascinating atmosphere, as well as interesting and diverse characters, has seldom been equalled. . . . The logical and yet entirely unexpected solution is only reached at the very end of the book, though the reader's interest is aroused and held from the very first page."

The admirable maps and charts with which the book is illustrated not only add to its interest, but are essential to a full understanding of the scene of the adventure and of the final solution of the mystery.

FAIR WINDS AND FOUL

A Narrative of Daily Life Aboard an American Clipper Ship. By Frederick Perry, who made the voyages. Illustrated with six plates, printed separately and tipped on to dark grey mounts. Second edition. 8vo. (9 x 6 in.) Cloth, gilt tops. $3.50 net

In 1873, the author was appointed as a Cadet Midshipman in the service of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company. At the end of a three-year course he entered the service of the California clipper ships. This book relates the stories of several voyages that he made while working his way up from third mate to first mate at the height of the history of these famous ships. He writes from personal experience and his narrative, always graphic, at times almost thrilling, is bound to hold the reader's attention to the end.

"The story of life on a clipper ship has been told before, but usually from the point of view of the captain, supreme and apart, or of that hard-driven human engine, the man before the mast. Mr. Perry's book presents it from another point of view, one which is less known but undoubtedly of equal, if not greater interest than the others—that of the mate, the man whom he describes as the 'general manager, auditor, superintendent, humorist, blasphemer, sailing-master, official log-keeper, work-creator and sleep destroyer' of the ship."

THE AUXILIARY PATROL

By E. Keble Chatterton, late Lieut. Commander, R. N. V. R., author of "Q-Ships and Their Story," etc. With 48 half-tone illustrations, besides diagrams, etc., in the text. 8vo. ($8\frac{7}{8}$ x 6 in.). Cloth, gilt top. $3.75 net

The story of the minesweepers, trawlers, drifters, motor-boats, etc., which, as auxiliaries, afforded valuable aid to the Navy during the great war.

Though much has been written about the admirable work done by these craft, there has been hitherto no attempt to place the whole story in its true historical perspective as part of the amazing history of the World War.

This book presents as comprehensive and as correct an account of its vast subject as it is possible to comprise within the limits of a single volume. It has the strongest possible appeal to all who love a brave story, and is of permanent value as a contribution to naval history.

THE LOG OF THE "CUTTY SARK"

By Basil Lubbock. With 89 illustrations reproduced from valuable and rare oil paintings, lithographs and photographs. 8vo. ($8\frac{7}{8}$ x 6 in.) Cloth, gilt top. $5.00 net

A history of the famous tea and wool clipper "Cutty Sark," the most interesting sailing ship still afloat, and considered by many old seamen to have been the fastest of all the clippers. It has been compiled from her log books, her captain's abstracts, and from information received not only from those who served aboard her, but from those who served aboard her rivals, or who were in any way connected with her.

One chapter, entitled "A Hell-Ship Voyage," is more full of dramatic incident than any sea story by Clark Russell, and it gives the true details of a tragedy which Joseph Conrad has woven into one of his facinating books.

THE CHINA CLIPPERS

By Basil Lubbock, author of "The Log of the 'Cutty Sark'." With 34 illustrations, chiefly reproductions of old paintings and lithographs. 8vo. Cloth. Gilt top. $3.75 net

This book treats of the history of the celebrated clipper ships in the Chinese opium and tea trades; and gives detailed accounts, taken from the logs of ships or from their captains and officers, of the great tea races.

It commences with an account of the Chinese opium trade and then goes on to the wonderful American clippers, which in the early forties took the world by storm.

Plans and scale models of the best known clippers are included, as well as portraits of these beautiful ships, reproduced from paintings and lithographs and collected with great difficulty owing to their scarcity.

THE COLONIAL CLIPPERS

By Basil Lubbock, author of "The Log of the 'Cutty Sark'." With 91 illustrations and plans. 8vo. Cloth, gilt top. $4.50 net

This book is divided into four parts. The first describes the great wooden clippers of the Black Ball, White Star, Eagle, and other lines, which carried the emigrants from Liverpool to Australia in the time of the Gold Rush, when all the world was taking ships to the Eldorado under the Southern Cross. Part Two deals with the wood and composite wool clippers, trading to Sydney, Melbourne and South Australia and also with the clipper barques in the Tasmanian Trade—vessels which were contemporaries of, and which for beauty, speed, and seaworthiness ranked with the China tea ships in their prime. Part Three gives an account of the magnificent iron sailing ships which raced out to Australian ports with passengers and general cargo and home again with wool. Part Four takes us to the New Zealand trade, and the rivalry between the clippers of Shaw-Savil and the New Zealand Shipping Company.

THE BLACKWALL FRIGATES

By Basil Lubbock, author of "The Log of the 'Cutty Sark'." With over 70 illustrations reproduced from valuable and rare oil paintings, lithographs and photographs. 8vo. Cloth, gilt top. $5.00 net

This book is divided into three parts, preceded by an Introduction in which a rapid survey is made of the development of sailing ships from Elizabethan days to the end of the 19th Century.

Part I deals with the history of the Blackwall Yard; one of the oldest shipbuilding yards in the British Empire.

In Part II a voyage is taken to India in the last days of the Honorable John Company, so that we may get a glimpse of the sea life of those stirring times with all its perils and pleasures, its picturesque ceremonies, and its romantic trading in little known seas, among peoples who had not been touched by the spreading tentacles of European civilization.

Part III deals with the beautiful frigate-built passenger ships of Green, Wigram, Smith, Somes, Marshall, Devitt & Moore, and Duncan Dunbar, which were the successors of the old East Indiamen and the link between them and our great passenger steamships of the present day.

THE WESTERN OCEAN PACKETS

By Basil Lubbock, author of "The Log of the 'Cutty Sark'." Illustrated with reproductions of valuable and rare oil paintings, lithographs and photographs. Small 8vo. Cloth, gilt top. $3.50 net

The author gives a brilliant account of the lines that served the Atlantic Ferry in the first half of the Nineteenth Century, with their smart passages and their "hard citizen" officers.

The second part teems with romance, including an account of the rescue of the survivors of the "Ville de Havre" and of the "Loch Earn" by the "Trimountain." It is an interesting record of the days when the Yankee Packet was Lord of the Western Ocean.

Abstract logs, voyages, specifications, a list of Donald Mackay-built ships and the record of the best Atlantic passages are in the appendices.

THE PIRATES' WHO'S WHO

Giving Particulars of the Lives and Deaths of the Pirates and Buccaneers. By Philip Gosse. With six illustrations and a map. Small 8vo. (8 x 5½ in.). Cloth, gilt top. $3.00 net

A book that is the outcome of many years' research in pirate lore and literature. Biographies of pirates and buccaneers from the earliest times to the present day. Although a serious work whose records are entirely true, it makes most exciting reading. Members of the fair sex are to be found among the pirates, and they did not err in leniency.

The map is a reproduction of one contained in "A New Survey of the West Indies, or the English American; His Travail by Sea and Land. By Thomas Gage, London 1655."

NIMROD OF THE SEA

or the American Whalemen. By William M. Davis. New edition, with an introduction by John R. Spears, author of "Story of the New England Whalers," etc. Illustrated with thirty-one full-page plates. Small 8vo. Cloth, gilt top. $3.00 net

A new edition of one of the best books on the whale-fishery ever written, that has been out-of-print for years, odd copies bringing high prices when occasionally occurring for sale. Mr. Spears' introduction gives a delightful historical resumé of the story of the growth and later decline of the industry, and adds materially to the interest and value of this new edition.

"Captain Davis not only authoritatively describes the whalers, their ships and their implements, but his book is loaded to the 'hatch coamings' with tales of adventure, every one of which is a 'corking' good story."—From John R. Spears' Introduction.

OLD SAILING SHIP DAYS

"From Forecastle to Quarter-deck." By Captain John D. Whidden. With an introduction by Ralph D. Paine. With 29 illustrations from photographs. Small 8vo. (8 x 5½ in.). Cloth, gilt top. $3.50 net

A handsome new edition of an absorbing story of a quarter-century's life at sea during the palmy days of the old-time sailing ships; the narrative of the actual experiences of one of the captains who commanded and sailed them.

As Ralph D. Paine, in his delightful introduction to this new edition, says:

"The book deserves to live because of the unusual blend of truth and entertainment. He did not realize it when he was writing, but the episodes of his career were so varied and colorful as to satisfy the requirements of a fictionist. In other words, things happened just about as you would have wished had you dreamed them for yourself, and this is the ultimate test of a good tale."

THE SHIPS AND SAILORS OF OLD SALEM

The record of a brilliant era in American achievement. By Ralph D. Paine, author of "Roads of Adventure," "The Fighting Fleets," "Lost Ships and Lonely Seas," etc. Illustrated with portraits, reproductions of old prints, etc. A new edition, revised, with a new preface by the author and a new index. 8vo. (8⅝ x 6 in.) Cloth. $4.00 net

This book describes the deeds of a race of red-blooded Americans who won honor for their flag and renown for their nation during the era of its struggle for very existence. Every merchant vessel carried a battery of cannon behind her stout bulwarks and her seamen were trained to handle them. None of the builders of the Nation played a larger, more thrilling part than did the merchant explorers and fighting seamen of old Salem, who sailed where no other ships had dared to go.

FROM THE FORECASTLE TO THE CABIN

Being the memoirs of Captain Samuel Samuels of the famous packet-ship "Dreadnought." New edition, with an introduction by Ralph D. Paine, author of "The Ships and Sailors of Old Salem," etc. With 24 illustrations, full-page and in the text. Small 8vo. (8⅜ x 5¾ in.). Cloth. $2.50 net

"Here is the true sailor of romance, who ran away to sea at the tender age of eleven, who was shanghaied by a Baltimore crimp, chased by West India pirates, sailed around the world in a haunted ship, was master on a Yankee quarter deck at twenty-one, fought cannibals, declined the post of Admiral in the Turkish Navy, rescued a Christian lady from a Turkish harem, battled with Mediterranean banditti, and commanded the "Dreadnought" in seventy-eight voyages across the Atlantic, and always brought her safely into port."—From Ralph D. Paine's introduction.

THE BOOK OF THE DECADE FOR AMERICAN YACHTSMEN

THE YACHT AMERICA

By Winfield M. Thompson, William P. Stephens and William U. Swan. Foreword by John R. Spears. Elaborately illustrated, chiefly from scarce old prints, lithographs, etc. Small 8vo. Cloth, gilt top. $5.00 net

Also issued in a choice large paper limited edition, 350 numbered copies on imported Normandy Vellum, with broad margins and extra illustrations, including a frontispiece in four colors. Royal 8vo, artistic binding. $15.00 net

The first complete story of the career of the famous America from her spectacular victory over England's best yachts, in 1851, to her delivery to the Naval Academy at Annapolis in 1921—a story that is in a sense the history of modern yachting.

The story is told in 350 pages with an appendix of original documents, race records, index, etc.

The nearly 60 illustrations include authentic pictures of the famous yacht and portraits of men associated with her, also an English scale model made for the late Admiral Sir William Loring when he was superintendent of the Portsmouth Dockyard.

THE VENTURESOME VOYAGES OF CAPTAIN VOSS

Introduction by Weston Martyr. Illustrated with numerous reproductions from photographs and with the lines of the "Tilikum." 8vo, cloth, gilt top. With map showing routes of the voyages as end papers. $4.50 net

This edition is an exact reprint from one of the excessively rare copies of the first issue.

As tales of adventure at sea, the stories of the cruises in Xora, Tilikum and Sea Queen would be hard to beat. The voyage of Tilikum, an Indian dugout canoe, is one of the most remarkable ever undertaken. Starting from Victoria, British Columbia, Voss sailed in her across the Pacific to Australia, thence round the Cape of Good Hope to Brazil, and so to London. This little ship—30 ft. long at the keel—covered 40,000 miles of ocean, and rode out many heavy gales, thanks to the means described.

THE YACHT ALICE

Planning, Building, and Cruises. By Henry Howard, Alice Sturtevant Howard and Katharine Howard. With about sixty illustrations, including plates reproduced from the original plans. 8vo. Cloth, gilt top. $5.00 net

The author's experience as a cruising yachtsman covers many years and many types of boats. The result of that experience is the ketch "Alice," one of the finest auxiliary cruising yachts in existence. He tells here the story of its planning, designing, and building.

This is followed by a complete set of specifications—some 38 pages—comprising every possible detail of equipment for comfort, convenience, and safety.

The second half of the book describes two remarkable cruises on the "Alice"; one from New York to Miami through the inland water-ways, the other among the Bahama Islands and to Cuba.

AMATEURS AFLOAT

The highly entertaining war and peace-time adventures of an amateur sailor. By H. Ivan MacIver. Illustrated with reproductions of photographs and two charts. 8vo ($8\frac{3}{4}$ x 6 inches). Cloth, gilt top. $4.00 net

The author's sea experience includes racing, cruising and motor-boating, and war service in the Naval Air Force and on a North Sea mine-sweeper.

"Mr. Ingpen has chosen authentic pictures only, that rightly illustrate the Life. Reynolds, Gainsborough, Romney—here are three masters of art who contribute. It should appeal to a great company of readers. Their introduction to it could not take place under better auspices than these well-illustrated, well-printed, well-edited pages." —London Daily Chronicle.

An absolute facsimile of the original edition of

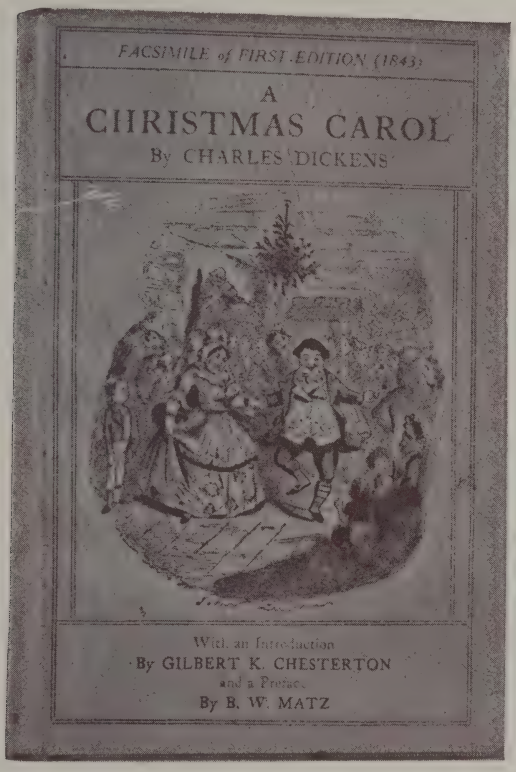
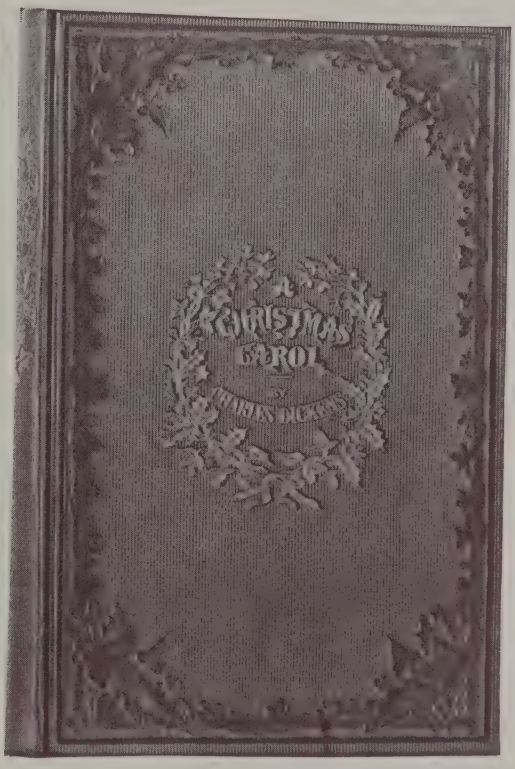
DICKENS' "CHRISTMAS CAROL"

A Christmas Carol in Prose; being a Ghost Story of Christmas. By Charles Dickens. With four illustrations in color and four woodcuts by John Leech. A facsimile of the original edition, with an introduction by G. K. Chesterton and a preface by B. W. Matz. Also containing facsimile reproductions of the title page, preface, and top-half of the first page from Dickens' original manuscript. 16mo. ($6\frac{3}{4}$ x $4\frac{3}{8}$ in.). Cloth, gilt edges. Each copy in a decorative Christmas box. $2.00 net.





In the preparation of this edition of Dickens' wonderful story, every effort has been made to present an exact replica of the original edition, published a few weeks before the Christmas of 1843. As far as is possible in these days, all points as regards paper, type, illustrations and binding have been faithfully adhered to. Leech's four wood-cuts have been printed from electros of the original woodblocks, while the four color prints have gone through eight printings to obtain a perfectly satisfactory result.

The binding is the reddish-brown cloth, with the green end papers and gilt edges, as in a genuine first edition, and the title page is printed in red and blue as was that original issue.

Even the typographical inconsistency is repeated, as on the first page of a first edition where "Stave I" appears instead of "Stave One" to match the other chapter headings, a mistake which, on discovery, was corrected in subsequent reprints.

Chesterton's delightful introduction is not the least of the attractions of this quaint little edition.

THE LARGEST TYPE EDITION

CHARLES DICKENS' COMPLETE WRITINGS

A new edition, in exceptionally large type, including his novels and tales, letters and speeches, plays and poems, miscellanies, etc., and Forster's Life of Dickens. With nearly 200 illustrations. The set complete in forty volumes, each complete work sold separately.

Price, $2.50 per vol. net

For list of titles comprised in the set, see opposite page.

This edition of Dickens is one that particularly appeals to any one wanting a set to read as well as to show on the library shelves.

To begin with it is complete, being a reprint of the famous "National" edition issued by Chapman and Hall of London and generally recognized as being "the definitive and only complete edition of Dickens"—chance sets of which today bring very high prices.

It also includes Forster's famous Life of Dickens as well as a large collection of his letters, edited by Miss Hogarth, the correspondence with Wilkie Collins, edited by Laurence Hutton, and a volume devoted almost entirely to Dickens' speeches, collected by R. H. Shepherd.

Then the type is the largest ever used in printing any edition, making a page that it is a pleasure to read. (See type specimen below.)

The illustrations—nearly 200 of them—are careful reproductions, direct from original proofs, of the old-time favorites, long associated in the minds of Dickens lovers with the stories they illustrate, and including the etchings and drawings of George Cruikshank, Hablot K. Browne ("Phiz"), Seymour, Barnard, Leech, Frost, Maclise and others.

The convenient size of the volumes, in conjunction with their handsome flexible binding, makes the set a distinct improvement upon any previous large-type edition—books that are easy to hold and read, and a joy to look upon.

194 THE PICKWICK PAPERS

oughtn't to. Here, young 'ooman, Miss Sawbones, Mrs. Vinkle, don't!'

Whether it was the magic of Mr. Winkle's name, or the coolness of the open air, or some recollection of Mr. Weller's voice, that revived Arabella, matters not. She raised her head and languidly inquired, 'Who's that, and what do you want?'

'Hush,' said Sam, swinging himself on to the wall, and crouching there in as small a compass as he could reduce himself to, 'only me, miss, only me.'

'Mr. Pickwick's servant,' said Arabella, earnestly.

'The wery same, miss,' replied Sam. 'Here's Mr. Vinkle reg'larly sewed up vith desperation, miss.'

AN AUTHORITATIVE ATLAS, IN HANDY FORM, FOR DESK OR LIBRARY SHELF

☞ Bartholomew's "Handy Reference Atlas" has been long and favorably known on both sides of the Atlantic, and this new edition—practically a new atlas—fills a want not quite covered by any other atlas extant.

"This Atlas was designed to serve as a constant elbow companion, alike in the office and in the home. It aims at being informative, up to date, clear, neat in size, and convenient in arrangement. In order to retain its old reputation in these respects, the present edition has been completely remodelled.

"The maps are entirely new in their selection, and all have been carefully brought up to date. Reference to those covering adjoining areas is simplified by the use of enclosed figures in the margin, which refer to the appropriate map page where continuation may be found.

"The section giving important statistics for all countries of the world has been made a special feature, and includes abstracts from the latest census reports. Separate tables of other noteworthy geographical information are also given.

"The index of over 35,000 place names will be found to be both comprehensive and simple in use."—Editor's preface.

An ANNOUNCEMENT

of Publications for the FALL of 1929

NEW YORK CITY
61 WEST FORTY-EIGHTH STREET

IT is particularly gratifying to the publishers to announce for the Fall a new edition of

Theodore Dreiser's

AN AMERICAN TRAGEDY

in one volume, at three dollars, made possible by the very large sale of the previous edition in two volumes, at five dollars. The new edition is absolutely unabridged, and is in every respect identical with the earlier issue except that it is bound in one volume. Now the thousands of students and others to whom the higher price has seemed prohibitive can own this contemporary classic in the new edition, available in September.

Dido, Queen of Hearts

By GERTRUDE ATHERTON
Author of The Immortal Marriage, The Jealous Gods, etc. etc.

DIDO, immortalized in Virgil's Æneid, is one of the most picturesque feminine characters in history. Born a Queen, but cheated of her inheritance, she wrested enough treasure from her royal brother to sail away and found a new royal city, Carthage. In her courage, energy, vigor of mind and adventurous spirit, she outdid her masculine contemporaries, but she was lovely enough almost to succeed in diverting Æneas from his great destiny, and feminine enough to lay her crown at his feet. In telling Dido's story, Mrs. Atherton paints another brilliant panorama of the ancient world. The first part of the book depicts life in Phœnicia, with all its splendor, profligacy and cruelty. The last half takes place in Carthage, where Dido receives the shipwrecked Æneas, and the second and greater drama of her life begins. This part of the story, in which a lovely woman stakes everything to make her lover forget the urge of a larger destiny, is an especially happy theme for Mrs. Atherton, and the story moves forward in a series of vivid, stirring episodes which grip the reader from page to page until the final climax is reached.

Superlatives become monotonous, but this is probably Gertrude Atherton's finest novel since The Conqueror.

A Gallery of Women

By THEODORE DREISER
Author of An American Tragedy, etc.

IN this new book Theodore Dreiser has done for certain women and all women exactly what he did, according to all critics, in Twelve Men for certain men and all men. These ladies troop forth from the notebook of his memory, a procession of lovely and strange women. Very few men have known women as has Dreiser, and no one who is living today is so capable of probing into the maze of complicated machinery of mind and matter which, to so many of us, is the great enigma. As these women of Dreiser's experience move under the enlarging glass of his genius, the reader sees the author's own life as it was deepened and enriched, colored and motivated by the daughters of Eve. As always, Dreiser appraises the forces that make the human comedy and the human tragedy what it is: love and passion, jealousy and ambition, hate and despair. "To read him unmoved is to confess that there is nothing moving in the eternal tragedy of man," wrote H. L. Mencken.

Dreiser sketches for the reader the panorama of lovely and strange women who have passed across the scene of his experience.

There will be a limited edition of five hundred and sixty copies of this book, numbered and signed by the author, five hundred and thirty-five of which will be for sale at twenty dollars.

American Colony

By CHARLES BRACKETT
Author of Week-end

COCKTAILS for breakfast, tears for luncheon, and who-the-Hell-cares for dinner in this brutally honest, gay and reckless picture of a group of young Americans on the French Riviera. There is Eve, who takes veronal to make her sleep, and tells wildly funny stories to make her young husband laugh . . . Jack, whom she still loves desperately despite his admiring prettier women like Nancy, whose eighteen-year-old fancy has led her into an affair with Cliff Smyth. Cliff's beauty is the despair of both men and women; but he has the mind of a minnow, the manners of an oaf, and the morals of a gigolo.

Brackett is making a name for himself as a realist—but a realist possessed of humor and compassion.

Jack's best friend is in love with Lily, a woman so dangerous that in Nice they say she was invented by Michael Arlen who telephones her directions every day. The story of these people has been told before with cynicism, with bone-dry realism, with pretty phrases. This novel embraces all of these methods and yet reveals the emotional life of these expatriates with astonishing sympathy and penetration. Brackett is a Hemingway become compassionate.

Life Goes On

By W. G. ROGERS

THis story is as shrewd a comment on life as American literature has produced; and Mr. Rogers has chosen a way to tell it absolutely new—a way startling in its simplicity, but amazing in its success. His method will provoke literary controversy, and have many imitators. The entire story is told in conversation—and so skillfully does the author picture each character by his speech, that it is not necessary to interrupt the rapid flow of the action by a single word of description. "I wonder what she saw in him"—probably that is what the neighbors said about Jack and Margaret Faulkner. As the story opens, Jack is fussing because he has to put on a clean collar for the party, at which Margaret is entertaining their dentist and their little daughter's teacher. Jack has invited a cheap girl and another man like himself. While Margaret is trying to impress her friends with her refinement, Jack and his companions get drunk. The situation is hilarious; yet its tragic overtones are never lost; the tightening tension between husband and wife, and the sense of the impending crisis, give added edge to the drama. Margaret decides to leave her husband, and in the early hours of the morning, attempts a reckoning. He persuades her to put off her decision until morning . . . and we realize that the crisis is past, and their life is going to go on, just as it always has.

Something new under the sun. A riotous novel entirely told in conversation.

False Youth

By LAWRENCE RISING
Author of Proud Flesh

Lawrence Rising's finest work, comparable only to that famous novel, The Dangerous Age.

LAWRENCE RISING in this new novel has chosen a difficult theme, and has handled it with a consummate artistry that places him in the front rank of American novelists. His subject is one of the curious ironies of life, the last treacherous flash of passion which brings false youth to a woman facing the late middle years; and with a fine sensitiveness he depicts the struggle of a lovely woman of London's fashionable world to free herself from a passionate attachment to a handsome member of the King's Guard. Trapped by the importunities of the irresistible forces of her nature, she finds herself supporting the guardsman, whose cruelty finally drives her to a desperate act which brings about her social ruin. Mr. Rising writes with the true restraint of the artist, letting the authentic drama of his situation carry the story to its strong climax. His heroine compels and holds the reader's sympathy from first page to last, and her supreme ordeal, when she becomes her own advocate before a court of law, is one of the most unforgettable and powerful scenes of recent fiction.

Red Ending

By HARRY HERVEY
Author of Congai

"I WANTED the stars, but they gave me thirty pieces of silver." Thus speaks Belano Farrell after a night of violence has released him from years of captivity and frustrated dreaming into a few months of terrifying freedom. And in the same bitter key, Red Ending is written . . . a novel of decadence and sensuous beauty, breathing a spell of quiet tenseness in which emotions tragically complicated smolder and suddenly break into flame. Its theme is the struggle of one individual to dominate and absorb another. Here it is a struggle that involves both the living and the dead, and it is set appropriately in an atmosphere of old walled gardens, cypress swamps and declining rice-plantations. It is, more particularly, the story of Laura Farrell, a somber vestal perpetuating her selfish love; of Dominy, her elder son, whom that love sends to his black destiny; of Belano, the younger, whose rôle is unwilling acolyte at the family altar. It is also the story of Marianne, "a restless meteor . . . too brilliant to be wasted upon one mere planet." When Charles Semprez enters the Villa Florence, passion and hatred throb a blended rhythm that drives the characters before it as before an inevitable drum-beat.

Harry Hervey writes here in an entirely new genre, and places himself among our most worthwhile authors.

The Mauriziuscase

By JACOB WASSERMANN
Author of The World's Illusion, Caspar Hauser, etc.
Translated by CAROLINE NEWTON

THIS novel went into fifty-five editions in Germany within six months of publication. Both in structure and in spirit, it is more akin to The World's Illusion than any of Wassermann's more recent books, and carries the reader back inevitably, in its most stirring moments, to that book. "I sat up reading it for the better part of two nights," writes Ludwig Lewisohn, "utterly absorbed by it, profoundly convinced at the end that I had once more undergone that catharsis through the written word which becomes, as time goes on and knowledge increases, an experience ever rarer and therefore more precious." The theme is the travesty of justice in our courts of law, and in Wassermann's story it is a passionately idealistic boy of sixteen who discovers that his own father has sentenced an innocent man to nineteen years in prison. The greatness of the book lies partly in the philosophical implications of the boy's tireless crusade to bring the truth to light, partly in the truly great characterizations, and partly in the extraordinary treatment of human relationships.

Ludwig calls Wassermann our greatest living novelist, and Lewisohn and other distinguished critics call this his greatest book.

The Wife of Steffen Tromholt

By HERMANN SUDERMANN
Author of The Mad Professor, etc.
Translated by EDEN and CEDAR PAUL

"BY the death of Sudermann," writes Robert Morss Lovett in The New Republic, "Germany lost a writer of international note. As distinctly racial as Hauptmann and Thomas Mann, Sudermann enjoyed a wider translation and circulation of his novels and plays than either." In The Wife of Steffen Tromholt, Sudermann portrays the conflict between the artist's craving for unlimited freedom and the longing for the cheerful anchorage of a home. It pictures the silken skeins with which a woman can bind a would-be Pegasus, until when she removes the bridle, and whispers: "Pegasus, leave me or love me!"—he follows the example of the winged horse and forswears his starry soarings over the mountains. But no forswearing is forever. In Tromholt's constant tugging at the leash which he cannot bear to cut, in his frequent infidelities, and in his remorse and fresh forswearings, Sudermann gives us an Olympian view of the eternal conflict in which the human soul is caught.

The only novel comparable to this great work is Dreiser's The Genius.

Bitter Waters

By HEINRICH HAUSER
Translated by PATRICK KERWIN
With an introduction by LIAM O'FLAHERTY

The Gerhart Hauptmann Prize novel for 1929, comparable in texture and subject matter to Eugene O'Neill at his best.

THIS novel, winner of this year's Gerhart Hauptmann Prize, is reminiscent of some of O'Neill's earlier plays in the powerful realism with which the sordidness of tropic ports, the feel of the sea, and the characters of ship and waterfront are evoked. Glen, an able seaman, with the sailor's eternal longing for land—for a small farm with chickens to feed and vegetables to raise—picks up a little prostitute, Chiquita, in Tampico, marries her and takes her away to a German fishing village. From this point the story gains an epic, lyrical quality, as Glen and Chiquita try to find happiness in primitive toil. The reactions of the exotic Chiquita to the strange bleak Northern home are an interesting psychological study, and Hauser's skillful depiction of the passion and passivity, the simplicity and complexity of this child of mingled blood is a masterpiece of interpretive writing. No brief description can give any idea of the tremendous effect which the book leaves upon the mind of the reader; the contrast of the interlude in the fishing village, with the sordidness of what comes before and after, is unforgettable. The style shifts from a very effective sharp staccato in the sea and waterfront episodes, to an easy-flowing prose very near to poetry in descriptions of life on the fishing island, and the author is at all times master of his material.

Judge and Fool

By ALTALENA
Translated by C. H. BROOKS

IN THIS book we have perhaps one of the finest novelizations of a Bible theme yet written, done with seriousness and dignity, without a definite attempt to modernize the details or the characterization or the dialogue, yet with a view towards making the tale pertinent and timely. This book is finely imagined and beautifully told. The recreation and description of life with the Philistines is fascinating; Samson himself is excellently imagined; and the atmosphere of the childhood of the world, an idealized childhood no doubt, surrounds the whole story. The intention of the author seems to have been to reproduce the simplicity and calm of epic narrative, and he has succeeded to an extraordinary degree. The scenes of Samson's fight with the panther, his descent on Timnath and the account of his journey on horseback when he was delivered to the Philistines, are extraordinarily vivid. The characters are portrayed with a few large strokes. Everything is subdued to the calm objective simplicity of the narrative. The historical detail is both novel and unobtrusive.

Published in England by Martin Secker, whose judgments on German books are unerring—witness Jew Süss.

The Fiddler

By SARAH GERTRUDE MILLIN
Author of God's Stepchildren, Mary Glenn, etc.

SARAH GERTRUDE MILLIN in this new novel deserts the theme of racial conflict. This powerful story ends in a courtroom: and the setting is Portuguese East Africa and Swaziland, a British colony with some two thousand Europeans, but not an inch of railroad, and a landscape distinguished by the curious twisted growth of the fever tree. It is a common saying in Africa that strange impulses come to people in Swaziland. A violinist, attractive, intelligent and artistic, who feels that he has a poetic need of women, lets his emotional self go questing, while his slippered self sits, half in fear of himself and life, half in affectionate duty, at home in England with his wife and family. He is the sort of person whose conscience trails meekly behind his desire, and whose desire falls back, too soon exhausted, on his conscience: a lover by disposition, but craving at the same time the security of the regular, the safe, the legal. In the exotic little city of Lourenço Marques, he meets a woman also domestically contented: but whose impulses match his own. What happens when they conceive a reckless passion for each other, and two days after their flight together they are overwhelmed by a totally irrelevant disaster, makes Mrs. Millin's story. With the artistic economy that distinguishes all her work, Mrs. Millin shows how these two meet the problem of matching their passion against misfortune. Mrs. Millin here writes a powerful story universal in its implications, but pervaded with the haunting, eerie atmosphere of strange, half-savage lands.

To quote Mrs. Millin, "The Fiddler has passion, flight, murder, forest - wanderings and fever trees in it, but I hope it is not melodramatic."

Painted Veils

By JAMES GIBBONS HUNEKER

A REPRINT of the original edition with twelve beautiful illustrations in full color by Majeska.

This extraordinary novel, already a classic, is issued in a special limited edition for fall publication. The beautiful, audacious illustrations of Majeska interpret this text admirably.

It was Huneker's only novel, and the book of which H. L. Mencken wrote: "What chiefly marks this book, it seems to me, is its prodigious gusto, the abounding joy with which it is slapped together. It is, in a very real sense, the crowning work of Huneker. It gathers all his scattered ideas into one sheaf and projects them imaginatively and brilliantly."

The book will be specially designed, with decorative covers, and will be strictly limited to 1250 copies.

Low Run Tide and Lava Rock

Two Novels in One Volume

By ELLIOT PAUL

THERE has been no book from Elliot Paul since 1924. His earlier books, Indelible, Impromptu and Imperturbe, all made a stir when published. He has now been in Paris for some years, working hard on new literary movements, particularly as editor and chief promoter of Transition, a magazine which has published some of the most interesting material issued in years. These two new novels are admirable stories as well as pictures of communities. Low Run Tide shows life in a New England fishing town consisting of lobster pounds and herring fisheries. It is a perfect picture of the natives of this little village, together with their customs, habits, vices and virtues. Lava Rock is a story of a mining community in the Far West. The building of a great dam, the absorbing detail, the relation of so many human characters, American and foreign, under the management of a skillful engineer, make enthralling reading. These are the kinds of stories that appeal to a wide public.

The first book in five years by an author whose work has always caused controversy, and sometimes raised eyebrows.

A Night Among The Horses

And Other Stories

By DJUNA BARNES

Such persistent demand existed for Miss Barnes' first book, that she has added much new material for a second edition — and here it is.

THIS work was originally published in 1923 under the title A Book. It received at that time excellent reviews and generous praise from the few who appreciate literature in its finer forms. It was permitted to go out of print shortly after, but for the last three years a persistent demand has existed for it, particularly since the publication of Ryder, Miss Barnes' astonishing and successful book of 1928, a book which has placed her in the ranks of writers who count, and from whom important work can be expected in the future. To the original collection of stories three new ones have been added for this edition—"A Little Girl Tells a Story to a Lady," "Aller et Retour" and "Passion." "Her prose, when it chooses, can go with a light rush or the blather of water, or with the sullen mumble of a crone's upbraiding," wrote Vincent McHugh in the N. Y. Evening Post. "It can be as full of nimbleness and mother wit as a fishwife's tongue. And sometimes it is as rightly American in its feel as Whitman." The publishers feel that although Miss Barnes preceded the writers of the Ernest Hemingway school, her work will find a wider public now.

Dawn Ginsbergh's Revenge

By S. J. PERELMAN

FOR years readers of Judge have been convulsed by Mr. Perelman's sketches with their highly irrelevant text. This is his first book, illustrated with his own drawings. He himself describes it as follows: "With this, the first volume in the trilogy called Swann's Way Down Yonder in de Cornfield, S. J. Perelman makes his initial bow. Woven into every warp and woof of its pattern is the incredible gaucherie of life in the straw-hat mines of Dutch Guinea. The book itself was woven entirely under water by a small band of panama hat weavers headed by 'Long John' Silverstein, of which the author was a member. One-time dean of the Chiropody School at Harvard, Mr. Perelman was thrown on his own resources at the age of 35. He at once lay down in a small hut named Raoul Kornblum and went to sleep. When he awoke twenty years later his beard had rusted to pieces and his fowling piece had turned white. Worst of all, he had become an Armenian. Nobody in Centreville could remember the boy who had wandered away into the Kaaterskills one balmy summer's afternoon to be a civil engineer. With heavy heart he turned his footsteps toward South America. For years he tramped the pampas, known only as Trader Hornstein to the housewives who bought his pots and pans. Then, one day, whilst spitting a curve into the wind, a whim seized him. When the whim relaxed its hold he found that he had set down his experiences in five hundred closely written sheets of foolscap. Three months later he arrived in Philadelphia penniless and barefoot, munching several pages of his manuscript. The rest is literary history. This is no ordinary problem novel. In its pages you will smell the Rialto, hear the creak of the cordage, and chaffer with the stockbrokers in the harbor of Papua. You will want to read the book out loud; you will want to shout about it from the housetops. With every copy of this book goes a free housetop. Come early and avoid the gush of the critics."

No party can be complete without this book to read aloud and howl over.

Chronicles of a Gigolo

By JULIAN SWIFT

PROFESSIONAL dancing man—the cardboard lover of rich old women and unloved wives—a puppet whose face and feet are his fortune—this is the gigolo. A good-looking boy with five shillings in his pocket embarks on this career, and these chronicles are the result. Rumored to be partly true, they have caused ripples of amusement and consternation in London, where some of the gigolo's old ladies are said to have their counterparts in real society. The story is told in the gigolo's own argot, and his natural humor, his artless outlook, and the final unexpected spiritual crisis he faces when his own love affair crashes, are all portrayed with a realism which has set English critics to wondering concerning the literary future of Julian Swift.

English critics acclaimed, and society shivered, at this revelation.

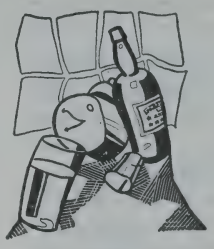
Hangover, A Novel of Broadway Manners

By MAX LIEF



FROM wisecracker to highjacker, from 15-and-5 taxi driver to five-dollar cover nightclub pirate, from be-minked showgirl to casting-couch producer—the ladder is long, but the dizzy denizens of the Gland Canyon known as Broadway somehow climb it. Max Lief chronicles the mad adventures of Ned Whippet, a snappy, brazen tabloid reporter who has whimsically named his devoted dog Lampost. He tells of the musical comedy lyricist who made a fortune with two rhymes—"love" and "above." He includes the tale of the romance-starved chorine who marries at last, only to find that things are not sometimes what they seem. There are the cliques and claques of first nights and the attendant bored and high-priced dramatic critics, gatecrashers, and autograph hunters. There are the literati and the cocktail cognoscenti. And there is much action, ranging from the gang-wars of the bootleggers to the gag-wars of the column conductors. Max Lief knows his New York as only a newspaper man can, and though he loves her, he doesn't mind revealing her secrets.

We believe Max Lief of the Daily News, pal to millionaires and gutter snipes, knows more about Broadway than almost any other writer.

Almost In Confidence

ANONYMOUS

IN interesting contrast to famous love letters of the past, this correspondence between a modern society girl and an English peer, with its background of the present fashionable world of London, Paris and New York, reveals the color and the emotional fire, the gayety and sophistication of moderns in love. The events happened only last year, and the commentary on many well-known persons makes it easy for the reader to make interesting guesses concerning identities. There are some things you dare not say face-to-face, some emotions you cannot reveal face-to-face; that is why these letters betray this sophisticated girl and English nobleman so cunningly. Letter by letter, the situation becomes more apparent, more amusing and more dramatic, making a story as absorbing and challenging as any novel of today. Some of the characters are so thinly veiled that you will recognize them immediately; some are so artfully disguised that you will rack your minds to place them. Their identification will be as engrossing as any of the literary parlor-games. And the deft dueling between these two intelligent and wary protagonists will hold your interest until long after the last chapter.

An absorbing story—which will inevitably challenge you to hazard guesses as to its characters.

The Best English Detective Stories of 1928

Edited by FATHER RONALD KNOX and H. HARRINGTON

If England had a Crime Club, the seasoned craftsmen represented here would supply its monthly winners.

THE editors of this book point out that the present popularity of the detective story has spurred writers to create better and better tales—and in the process, they have also sharpened the wits of their readers. It is for these sophisticates of the detective story audience that this book has been compiled. Among the contributors are J. S. Fletcher, Gilbert Frankau, E. Phillips Oppenheim, Baroness Orczy, Denis Mackail and other masters—and the stories selected are the cream of their output. To insure the astute reader against solving the mysteries too soon, the editors have carefully tested each story by an ingenious decalogue of "don'ts" for the writer. Chinamen—happy accidents—unaccountable intuitions—twin brothers—and other props to the weak plot are barred. And to add a little zest to the game, the editors give the reader a test for himself by telling where in each story the really clever reader should guess the true culprit.

Landmarks

By LADY BELL, D.B.E.

LADY BELL, remembered best in this country as the editor of the letters of her famous stepdaughter, Gertrude Bell, is a distinguished woman in her own right. This book is a collection of essays, written over a period of years, on a variety of topics. Some are discussions of current questions, others are brilliant pictures of famous personages, like Mrs. Humphry Ward, Coquelin and others. Such essays serve as landmarks, which as we look back upon them along the road, help to indicate the distance we have traversed.

Siberian Garrison

By RODION MARKOVITS
Translated by GEORGE HALASZ

STRAY copies of this book, first published obscurely in Transylvania, reached Budapest and created a sensation; in its European edition it has been a best-seller for months. Siberian Garrison is a terrible, breathless, arresting book, profound in its acuteness of observation and its understanding of human nature, comparable to no other war book in its method, and covering a phase of the war years never before adequately presented.

Markovits was taken prisoner by the Russians in 1915, and he spent nearly six years in various Siberian prison camps, during the Czarist régime and the subsequent Russian governments. His narrative, which in its swiftness and its vivid picture quality is like a news film (uncensored), begins with his entrance into the army, and carries us through the weary days while the vast, busy, stupid military machine turns civilian into soldier; then to the front, unlike anything imagined before—death lurking at every corner, green and black corpses between the trenches, horror, fear, comradeship and callousness mingled; then to the prison, a fresh incredible horror.

In the second part of the book, the personal element becomes less strong, and what looms large before us is the Camp, and all that it does to the suffering human mass it hems in. Nothing is spared; nothing is camouflaged. The sex problem; the maddening, silly games invented to escape lunacy; the shortage of food and clothing; the cruelties and killings which come with the revolutions and counter-revolutions in Russia—all these things flash before our eyes as the film rolls on, revealing everything in its pitiless realism.

Executions, when two thousand rebels were shot into graves dug by themselves; a typhus epidemic which made life a nightmare for its duration—these are outstanding horrors that linger in the prisoner's mind. But worse still are the day to day petty brutalities of the officers, their silly rivalries, the prisoner's own gnawing craving for change, his yearnings for liberty, women, comfort, decencies. Freedom comes at last, and the hero goes home, a broken man, nearly three years after the Armistice.

Not just another war book, but the only one of its kind—profound, terrible, breath-taking.

Here, in this book, is that very rare combination: an amazing human experience, suffered by a person with the power to recreate it in all its vividness.

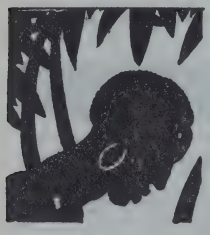
A Very Naked People

By ALBERT LONDRES
Translated by SYLVIA STUART HATCH

The Romance and Tragedy of French Africa



THIS is the story of Albert Londres' trip to Africa, through the French Soudan, the High Volta, the Ivory Coast, Togoland, Dahomey and the Congo, and the experiences he encountered there. It is an extremely interesting and sincere book, absolutely authentic; it could hardly be otherwise and be written by M. Londres, who as author of The Road to Buenos Ayres has established himself as one eager to tell the truth as he sees it. The curious lives of our contemporary savages—usually either ignored or sentimentalized in print—their characteristics, strange habits and extraordinary marriage customs—are all described by M. Londres, with his characteristic genius for vivid and amusing detail. Not the least interesting part of his narrative are the strange situations which arise when the primitive psychology of the blacks meets and seeks to adjust itself to the civilized notions imported by their French masters, and M. Londres' keen Gallic mind does not miss any of the irony or pathos of the picture. Nor does he gloss over the amazing inhumanity of the French treatment of the blacks in many places. With philosophic detachment, but devastating accuracy as to facts, he reveals conditions as he finds them, regardless of national pride or feeling. This phase of the book might with all justice be likened to a Mother India, with the special pleading and hysteria left out.

A tremendous sensation in France, where half the press thundered "This book is a crime" and the other half retorted, "Is it not heroism?"

The Devil and Cotton Mather

By KATHERINE ANNE PORTER

The amazing and significant inner story of a New England conscience.

HE prayed a brother-in-law to death. He left records in his diary that reveal a secret practise of rites of diabolism. He called upon sick people to cure themselves by merely touching his printed tracts on religion. His witchcraft persecutions were a self-indulgence in a perverted sensuality that there were then no psychologists to interpret. In effect, he tried to apply a native and hungry devil worship to the glory of a merciful God and set on foot the strangest episode in American history. This study in sadism is one of the most remarkable psychological portraits in the whole field of biography. It is an astounding picture of religious ecstasy and righteousness, contrasted to an unbelievable strain of bigotry and superstition, of cruelty and implacable retribution in the name of the Lord. As a story of the New England conscience, as a narrative of the Salem Witchcraft, and as a study of a pious and bigoted figure, this book—which treats the subject in the modern biographical manner—is an important document.

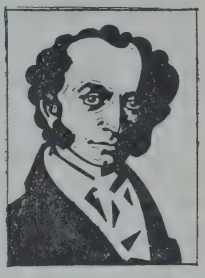
An Epoch and A Man

Martin Van Buren and His Times

By DENIS TILDEN LYNCH
Author of "Boss" Tweed



THERE has been no more interesting and encouraging development in recent literary history than the growing invasion of the biographical field by men like W. E. Woodward and Denis Tilden Lynch—men who bring to their study of an historical figure no preconceived scholastic notions, no desire to fit their story into a predetermined historical formula—but, instead, a burning interest in the alluring riddle of human destinies and the interplay of forces which make history. As he did in "Boss" Tweed, Mr. Lynch again has taken a figure symbolic of his period, and with the reporter's skill for unearthing salient facts, quickened by the recreative imagination of the true historian, has pictured the whole epoch in telling Van Buren's story.

What Boss Tweed did for the Tammany machine, Van Buren did for our national political machine. Van Buren's model of 1836, in which he rode to the White House, is still used, without change, by the Republicans and Democrats.

But this is not the only legacy that this little known and unappreciated President has left us. Mr. Lynch, in his researches for this book, has uncovered original source material, in Washington and elsewhere, that has hitherto been entirely neglected, and which proves that Van Buren and his epoch affected the after-history of our country much more profoundly than historians have ever realized.

His genius for political intrigue has rarely been matched. The son of a tavern keeper and struggling farmer, who trundled cabbages to market, he became, at eighteen, a delegate to the Congressional convention. From then on, his soaring career has the glamour of an Oriental tale of splendor and fantasy.

As we turn the pages of his story, dance music fills the drawing rooms, rapiers flash and clash, brawls arise in taverns, quiet streets suddenly teem with red-handed rioters, faithless servants loot the public coffers and heroes bleed that democracy's wounds may heal. Some of the notable figures include the Clintons, the first John Jacob Astor, the Livingstons, the Adamses, Lafayette, Napoleon, Irving, Louis-Philippe, Victoria—then England's girl queen—Citizen Genêt, Thomas Addis Emmet, the Gallatins, Webster, Monroe, Jackson, the Widow Timberlake, Light Horse Harry Lee and others of the Virginia Dynasty on whose ruins Van Buren erected his Albany Regency; and finally, Thomas Jefferson himself, whose faith Van Buren professed and profaned.

Nominated by the publishers in all sincerity for the Pulitzer Prize for "the best book of the year on the history of the United States."

The volume is profusely illustrated with rare old prints of the famous and infamous characters with whom we live on terms of intimacy, thanks to Mr. Lynch's contagious imagination.

Luck, Your Silent Partner

By LOTHROP STODDARD

DO you know that the chances that you would not be born yourself, but someone else are over twelve thousand million to one? Do you know that if a certain local politician in the State of Washington had not got peeved one day in 1910, there might have been no World War? Do you know that the United States would today be a small country crowded between the Appalachians and the sea if a whole series of quite accidental and wholly unrelated events had not taken place? And do you know that if Alexander the Great had not got so drunk on a "wild party" in Babylon one night in 323 B. C. there would never have been a Roman Empire? If it had not rained early in the morning of June 15, 1815, on the Belgian town of Waterloo, would a Bonaparte still be ruling France? If a heat wave had not struck Chicago early in June, 1920, would Calvin Coolidge ever have been President of the United States? If the youthful and frightened Thomas Edison had opened his mouth to speak twenty seconds sooner, would he be unknown today? If a certain little-known vaudeville performer had not called down a gentleman in the audience, who was noisily getting up to leave, would Texas Guinan now be America's leading night club hostess? If you had not been at a certain place at a certain hour on a certain day would you have met the girl who is now your wife?

What is this mysterious, intangible, unpredictable element in all life that molds the destinies of races, nations and individuals? No one knows—but we call it luck or chance. It weaves in and out of the pages of human history, it changes the pattern of each and every individual life—it strikes now here, now there. It is the spice and savor in what would otherwise be an intolerably cold and hopeless world.

The amazing and extraordinary story of Luck, the eternal mystery-element of life, is told by Dr. Lothrop Stoddard, the author of many celebrated books, in a flowing narrative full of startling anecdotes drawn not only from history but specially contributed for this book by more than fifty of the world's best-known men and women.

Rarely has the soundness of the old saying, "Truth is stranger than fiction," been more graphically illustrated than here. For the amazing true stories this book tells would be ruled out as too incredible for any work of fiction. It is interesting that very few among the really great attribute their achievements solely to their own efforts and native abilities. Few famous people, who have lived life to the full, have failed to experience many exciting twists of fortune, and the stories they have told Dr. Stoddard outstrip the most absorbing novels in their thrill. But it is not only the great and near great that are represented here. Just as curious strokes of luck have changed the lives of the obscure, Dr. Stoddard shows. And to make his story complete, he has painstakingly gathered anecdotes from stagefolk, doctors, lawyers, politicians, diplomats, business men, scientists, inventors—in short, from persons in every walk of life and every field of human activity.

Packed full of luck stories, told us by some of the best known men and women in the country.

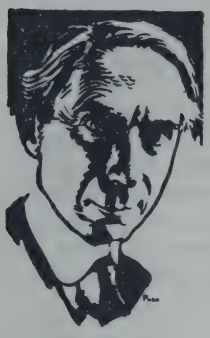
Marriage and Morals

By BERTRAND RUSSELL



WHAT is the primary purpose of marriage? How has the attempt of the law and the police to keep men and women in ignorance on sexual matters affected our civilization? What attitude should we take about divorce? What is going to become of the family? Bertrand Russell, one of the finest minds of all time, seeks the answers to these questions in this great book, on which he has been working for a number of years, and which he offers as his major contribution on this subject.

Russell takes up the question of matrimonial morals first historically, and then from the standpoint of present-day problems, showing how the institution of the family has passed through three main stages—the first, as it existed among certain savages who did not know that human beings have fathers; second, the early patriarchal system, when the father was all-important; and third, when Christianity in the West, and Buddhism in the East, introduced the idea of something inherently impure in sex. Coming down to modern times, he takes up the problems of readjustment brought about by woman's new demand for equality with men. He argues that the attempt of the law and the police to keep men and women in ignorance on sexual matters is wholly undesirable, and a source of grave damage to mental and bodily health. He views marriage as an institution whose primary purpose is to secure that children shall have the care of two parents. From this point of view he regards divorce as regrettable though sometimes necessary, and holds that husbands and wives should be tolerant of each other's aberrations. The future of the family, however, he regards, for economic reasons, as somewhat dubious, since he perceives, not without alarm, the increasing tendency of the state to take over the functions hitherto performed by the father. If this tendency is continued, be believes, marriage will cease to serve its biological purpose, and will probably disappear, except in those eminent families which aim at founding dynasties. Clearly and with unassailable logic, he shows how the needless prohibitions taught in childhood have warped our living and thinking. His entire aim is to find the secret of greater happiness and well-being for us all in the whole realm of sex—and the rich and valid opinions he advances in this book will inevitably bring us closer to that goal.

Mr. Russell has won such undisputed eminence in philosophy and mathematics that had he chosen to stay within their limits, he would remain a notable figure. But he has assumed the responsibility of humanizing his vast stores of knowledge. In this way, he has become one of the greatest educators of our generation. His analysis of the causes of war in Why Men Fight, his illuminating exposition of the new movements for the reorganization of society in Proposed Roads to Freedom; and his lucid, delightfully readable exposition of Education and the Good Life, have all deepened and enriched the thought of his time. In this new book, he gives the layman the benefit of all his keen faculties, the great wealth of his scholarly background, and the insight which years of study and human contact have given him, upon one of the most perplexing and many-sided questions of the day.

Russell does not see sex as inherently impure, nor marriage as a sacred God-given institution.

The Incredible Borgias

An Impressionistic Panorama

By KLABUND
Author of Peter the Czar
Translated by LOUISE BRINK, PH.D.

THIS is the amazing story of the Borgias, written with that peculiar genius of Klabund, beginning with the Centaurs, the mythical ancestors of the Borgias, and ending at the gates of Hell where Cesare Borgia, having obtained permission to leave Heaven, is refused admittance because he is unable to pay the price. Alfonso Borgia, later Pope Calixtus III., is briefly introduced, and thereafter the stage is held by Rodrigo Borgia, later Pope Alexander VI., Cesare Borgia and Lucrezia Borgia. Blandly unscrupulous in planning to found a dynasty and make the papacy hereditary, saturating their lives with bribery and assassinations, the characters nevertheless do not forfeit our sympathy. Into a single volume, Klabund has condensed the essence of an entire epoch, and the book is fascinating from beginning to end. It may be somewhat audacious, but not to intelligent people, and it probably will be more enjoyed than was Peter the Czar.

An almost unbelievable panorama—by Klabund, master in his field.

Casanova Loved Her

By BRUNO BRUNELLI
Translated by ALEXANDER M'KECHNIE
With an introduction by ARTHUR MACHEN

THE identity of Mademoiselle X. C. V., who played such a curious part in the life of Casanova, has always been a mystery. Recently Signor Bruno Brunelli, distinguished Italian dramatic author, in making researches in the history of Paduan theaters, unearthed love letters which reveal her as Giustiniana Wynne, the daughter of an English baronet. From her letters he has been able in this book to reconstruct a part of Casanova's life which up to now has been cast in baffling shadow. In the full letters of the charming Giustiniana, the whole story of her strange share in the tempestuous career of Casanova is told, and in addition they give a picture of 18th century London, Paris and Venice as sprightly as Pepys' similar descriptions of the 17th. "We are so settled in this odd belief that only the dull and unpleasant things are true, that we call a writer who deals with such things a realist . . . while the artist, in words or colours, whose subjects are strange, fantastic, or beautiful, is an idealist, a fellow who describes or paints the unreal," says Arthur Machen. "But whatever record leaps to light, it seems that Casanova never will be ashamed; at all events on the accusation of lying. The more minutely his wild tales are investigated, the more fully are they confirmed and corroborated; and here again is a striking and convincing instance of his veracity."

A beautiful gift book, for your discriminating friends who are interested in anything about Casanova — and who isn't?

The Letters of Frances Newman

Edited by HANSELL BAUGH

THE brilliant author of The Hard Boiled Virgin and Dead Lovers Are Faithful Lovers, who with the publication of her first novel established herself as a star of the first magnitude in the literary firmament, was as daring and original in her judgments as she was in her creative writing. She made no secret of her attitude toward some of her contemporaries, and several of her newspaper interviews created a sensation all over the country and were even reprinted in Europe. Her letters were just as frank and penetrating in their irony as her interviews, and her correspondence with Mencken, Cabell, Rascoe and other important literary figures contains a running fire of keen and witty comment on the contemporary scene most diverting to read, and invaluable as a reflection of a very clever woman's reaction to our period.

Frances Newman leaves a delightful literary heritage.

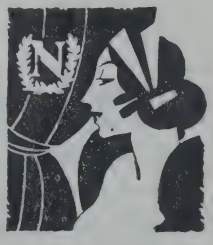
Josephine, the Great Lover

An Amorous Biography

By N. P. NEZELOF
Translated by SYLVIA STUART HATCH



IN this book, a brilliant translation of Pierre Nezelof's glowing and vivid story of the woman who is known in history as the Empress Josephine, the history of an amazing and romantic life is told. This is not merely the story of the woman Napoleon loved and upon whose head, with his own hands, he placed the Imperial crown. It is the career of the woman, the lover, not that of the Empress, that M. Nezelof has chosen to tell, and to tell with a complete and utter frankness. The woman herself as she was, not as idealists have sought to picture her, is disclosed. Here is the woman who found consolation in Hoche's arms for the terrors of the prison of the Carmelites; who penniless, after her release, was the mistress of half the leaders of Revolutionary France, including Barras himself, who cynically urged her to better herself by marrying her latest lover, the little Corsican, Bonaparte; the woman who, bored by the uxoriousness of the man before whom all Europe was ready to bow down, amused herself with a coxcomb lieutenant of Hussars; the woman who, when it was too late, understood what she had sacrificed to her vanity and her caprice. No one but a Frenchman could have written this brilliant, revealing study of a woman whose career is comparable only to that of the man who raised her to share his throne. M. Nezelof has revealed the Empress with a touch as sure as that of Emil Ludwig in dealing with Napoleon.

There have been many books on Napoleon—then Ludwig wrote his. There have been many books on Josephine, but none quite like this one.

How to Be A Hermit

or A Bachelor Keeps House

By WILL CUPPY

HERE are a score and a half of gay and decidedly unconventional essays about life on Jones's Island, out Fire Island way, between Great South Bay and the bounding Atlantic. Mr. Cuppy describes himself as a secular hermit of the improved seaside or clam-eating type, technically known as the North American sand, marsh or beach hermit. He intends his confessions regarding food, finance, housekeeping and unclassified for the general reader in search of innocent fun. In short, a new humorist emerges. In this first collection of his hermiting pieces the narrator includes hints, advice and sometimes startling news about the psychology of the tin can, lumps in the pancakes, the perils of working, the prune (Prunus domestica), the kitchen beautiful, Frederick Barbarossa, budgets, etiquette for hermits, the sinister Duke of Savoy, interior decoration and kissing games, together with full directions on how to catch escaping feathers and more or less useful facts concerning the history, folklore and system of government (a species of moot, or council, invented by Ethelred the Unready) of Jones's Island. "We live but once, if that!" says this unusual hermit. This is the philosophical keynote of these diverting essays. Those who follow the author's articles will find here much new material, especially devised to introduce the hermit between book covers, with map and decorative end papers.

They Still Sing of Love

By SIGMUND SPAETH
Author of The Common Sense of Music

SIGMUND SPAETH is recognized today as the leading influence toward the humanizing of music. This is his book of the year. He begins with a good-natured fling at the sophistication of our modern popular songs, and shows that the undercurrent of sentimentality is the same as it always was. He carries his reader to the uninhibited land of "Jazzmania," and analyzes the entire tendency of the newer generation to "distort the conventional." He next tilts a lance against the traditional marvels of "primitive music," blandly suggesting that perhaps the noble savages were playing and singing out of time and out of tune like any other musical illiterates. There is an illuminating discussion of "The Artist and his Public," a dissection of the concert audience from the standpoint of the performer, and finally pertinent question: "What's the matter with music?" Uniform in format with The Common Sense of Music.

Ferenc Molnár:

The Man Behind The Monocle

By GEORGE HALASZ

FERENC MOLNÁR'S life is full of crises. There are love crises, marital crises, tragic crises, droll crises. And each major crisis has produced its play.

George Halasz, journalist, dramatic critic, native of Budapest and intimate of Molnár, can always recognize the family resemblance between the play and the crisis that produced it. Halasz's life of Molnár, therefore, is invaluable as a key to the plays. But aside from that interest, Molnár's life in itself is a wonder-tale of modern times, running the gamut of a dozen European capitals, several score of moods and emotions, and a staggering collection of professions, including that of journalist, cook, musician, inventor, scenic designer, actor, graduate lawyer and Alderman.

The only biography of the gay Continental hero of a thousand anecdotes.

Halasz's delightfully informal biography is the first life of Molnár to appear in any language. Now at last the lovers of Molnár's plays may know this romantic figure of Budapest, and may live the gay life of the Continent with a Continental.

A Book of Drawings

By PETER ARNO

THE drunken, delicious Whoops Sisters reeling around the pages of The New Yorker made Peter Arno's name a byword in every sophisticated American home. Since that smashing debut, Arno's name has appeared under drawings that are unrivalled for skill, malicious deviltry and ribald sagacity.

His series of drawings of life and manners make an amazing intepretation of human foibles. For cunning and vivacity, no English or French draughtsmen can equal him. He knows his America (he knows life) and he tells the story with a line that is at once wilful and precise, merry and mad, wise and wry. Arno is in a very real sense a social historian: and this book twenty years from now will be a rarity treasured by the student of our time as well as the connoisseur of humor. His drawings reflect the social attitudes and the life of the time epigrammatically and with greater force than half a dozen weighty and solemn treatises could do. What Cruikshank did for the England of the nineteenth century, Arno is doing for America of the twentieth.

This book of Peter Arno's illustrations will contain ten or twelve drawings which have appeared nowhere else, making the book a most valuable item and an unsurpassable book for Christmas.

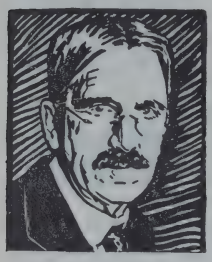
The Sources of a Science of Education

By JOHN DEWEY



IT IS particularly fitting that the first volume in a new series on the broader implications of American education should be written by John Dewey, recognized as one of America's most important living philosophers, whose ideas can justly be said to have revolutionized our previous attitudes toward education. In this lucid discussion, Dr. Dewey makes a powerful plea for placing education where it rightly belongs—among the sciences—explaining the significant relationship between philosophy, psychology, biology, economics and this newer science of education. He shows how our educational activities have been in the past largely influenced by routine, traditions, accident, and transitory influences—and how we must break away from all of these to put education upon a firm scientific basis. Scholar and layman alike will find this readable, timely discussion a stimulant to clearer thinking on what is one of our greatest present-day problems.

No one interested in education can be satisfied to do without this important work.

Orpheus A History of Religions

By DR. SALOMON REINACH

Translated by FLORENCE SIMONDS

No one volume work can approach this classic as a popular history of the world's great religions.

THIS classic by one of the world's best known scholars has been out of print since 1909. To meet the constant demand of individuals and libraries, this new edition, thoroughly revised, and with much new material added, is now issued. Orpheus, the world's first singer, considered by the Greeks as the interpreter of the gods to men, is appropriately chosen as the symbol of the book's purpose, which is to present the historical background, the meaning and the development of each of the world's great religions. Here they are summarized in a way that places them within any reader's intelligence; no other book, certainly none in the English language, can even approach this work as a popular history of the important religions of the world. The possession of it is almost a necessity, and people who are interested in The Story of Mankind and The Story of Philosophy might well add this to their library as "the story of religions."

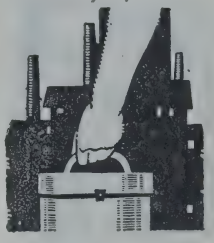
Our Biggest Customer

By GEORGE HARRISON PHELPS
With an introduction by JAMES J. DAVIS,
Secretary of Labor



AMERICAN business is due for something of a shock when it gets into the pages of a new and in many respects remarkable book by George Harrison Phelps, one of America's greatest advertising experts. Our biggest customer, says Mr. Phelps, is labor,—the worker. To James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, Mr. Phelps acknowledges much indebtedness, for hitherto unpublished facts and figures of a vital and illuminating nature. The book reveals a profound and absorbing insight into some of the most prodigious social and economic problems of the day. And yet the document itself is neither profound nor fanatical, as are so many proffered solutions of the laborer's dilemma. Is modern machinery robbing labor of its chance? Shall we cut wages? Shall we have the five-day week? Shall we "fire at fifty"? Is modern manufacturing management efficient? What about the billions of American money poured into foreign countries to hire labor to produce goods to compete with those made by our own labor?

What shall we do to enable our biggest customer to buy even more?

These and a dozen similar portentous queries go thundering through the book like so many bombshells. They make you think. Mr. Phelps modestly declares this to be his only purpose—to arouse the thinking people of the country into a state of earnestness over labor —"our biggest customer." He also says frankly that his plea for labor is purely economic, not humanitarian.

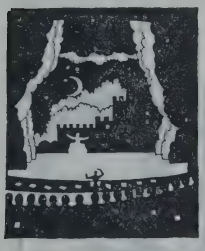
Forty Years of Opera in Chicago

By EDWARD MOORE



EDWARD MOORE, the veteran music critic of the Chicago Tribune, has written the story of Grand Opera in Chicago, which covers the field from the first performance in the Auditorium, December 10, 1889, until the final production of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, January 26, 1929. Mr. Moore, through his long association with artists and musicians, is eminently qualified to describe the advances made from the day Adelina Patti opened this beautiful house with Romeo and Juliet, until the curtain fell on the same opera, sung by Edith Mason, Charles Hackett and other artists. Mr. Moore's book is filled with spicy anecdote and unusual incident, and gives an extremely readable picture of what passed behind the footlights in the Auditorium during its long existence. Names which have become legendary, and others which are becoming so, fill its pages. Statistics are gathered at the end of the book, and it is profusely illustrated with pictures of the world's greatest artists.

On the other side of the footlights — the personalities, the struggles, the triumphs, of Chicago's musical history.

Author of Poems in Praise of Practically Nothing

"THIS book," writes Samuel Hoffenstein, "is neither a continuation of Poems in Praise of Practically Nothing nor is it a deliberate literary enterprise in another direction. Since both are the product of the definite experience of a single individual, their direction may be said to be set, their goal to be identical, their gait similar. Otherwise these poems are a further record of those things under Heaven and over the bar, which the author saw, felt or remembered, and which he deemed necessary, desirable, easy or profitable to set down. The motive is, therefore, universal. It is not arbitrarily intended to be poetry; should poetry be discerned in it, so much the better. It dispenses with plot on the credible assumption that the plot provided by simply existing is infinitely superior to any the author could invent. It is written in verse because it is easier to write, easier to read, and easier to remember; it is more likely to tickle the ear, and thence the heart, and thence that portion of the brain which is not a liability to its owner. It is neither seriousness nor levity unless the reader wishes so to label it or any part of it; the author himself regards the division as one of the minor conventions, but does not, of course, wish to intrude the opinion."

As we go to press, it is estimated that Poems in Praise of Practically Nothing has had 193,108 readers. Each one will want this book.

God Beguiled

By GEORGE O'NEIL
Author of The White Rooster, The Cobbler in Willow Street, etc.

A NEW volume of poems by Mr. O'Neil has become an event in the poetry world. This particular volume will create marked delight in those who have watched the young poet's luminous progress. For to these poems he brings newly-minted vigor and a catholicity that embraces form as well as material.

Here is a singing voice that, for beauty of imagery, has cut its niche in pure silver. Here is a singing voice undaunted by any note in the scale; sometimes giving a sonnet hard and polished as bone, sometimes giving a lyric delicate and tremulous as a spray of little leaves.

The first poems in two years from one of our most sensitive lyrical singers.

A magic sense of the true and enduring in verse form, a deep awareness of the fine and important in any art form, distinguishes Mr. O'Neil as a poet . . . and distinguishes Mr. O'Neil's poetry as above the level of just talent.

Dear Judas

By ROBINSON JEFFERS
Author of Cawdor, Roan Stallion, etc.

THIS volume will contain two longer poems, "Dear Judas" and "The Loving Shepherdess," and a few shorter poems.

"The Loving Shepherdess," writes Jeffers, "is the story of one who has committed self-sacrifice . . . a saint, I suppose, going up to a natural martyrdom, aureoled with such embellishments as the mind of the time permits. Incapable of taking thought for herself, she wanders the length of the coast that has been usually the scene of my verses. I am going away for a year, and have perhaps lingered on that account a little wistfully over my home hills, before looking at others.

"The other poem of some length is a species of passion-play called Dear Judas. It seems to me to present, in a somewhat new dramatic form, new and probable explanations of the mythical characters and acts of its protagonists.

"There is some relationship of thought between the two longer poems of the book; the shepherdess in the one, and Judas and Jesus in the other, each embodying different aspects of love: nearly pure, therefore undeluded but quite inefficient, in the first; pitying in the second; possessive in the third."

A new book by the man whom Mary Austin, Arthur Davison Ficke and many others call the greatest poet since Whitman.

There will be a special limited edition of three hundred and seventy-five copies of this book, of which three hundred and fifty will be for sale at $10.00.

Refractions

By L. F.

THESE verses and prose poems, while they are the expression of the tone-feelings of an individual, are, we believe, of universal significance. Deeply moving, they refract from many facets the impressions that are, at one time or another, the common lot of men and women. Original in form and imagery, they present emotions and concepts that most of us carry so deep within us that they are secret even from ourselves. In a few lines there are captured and distilled many of the emotional experiences of modern man. Their diversification constitutes a full cycle.

Who is L. F.? Everyone in the "effete East" who reads will easily penetrate the author's thin disguise.

Dynamo

By EUGENE O'NEILL

EXTENSIVE revisions and additions will make the published version of this play, produced by the Theatre Guild last fall, almost a new work. It is Mr. O'Neill's most ambitious undertaking, and he calls it "a symbolical and factual biography of what is happening in a large section of the American soul right now." He explains that it is the first play of a trilogy "that will dig at the roots of the sickness of today as I feel it—the death of an old God and the failure of science and materialism to give any satisfying new one." In form, it continues the method so successfully used in Strange Interlude.

October 18 Large 12mo. $2.50

The first play in an ambitious trilogy by America's greatest dramatist.

There will be a limited edition of this work, consisting of seven hundred and seventy-five numbered copies, signed by the author, of which seven hundred and fifty will be for sale at the price of twenty-five dollars.

Studies on Six Plays of Eugene O'Neill

By ALAN D. MICKLE

"THIS little book is most certainly not an attempt at a critical valuation of Eugene O'Neill's works," says the author. "It is simply a testimony." He goes on to relate how the discovery of an O'Neill play in a London theater revived his belief that our time could produce a truly great dramatist—and in these six studies he discusses his reactions to The Hairy Ape, Anna Christie, The Great God Brown, The Fountain, Marco Millions and Strange Interlude. Uniform in binding with the plays of Eugene O'Neill.

Montaigne

By ANDRÉ GIDE
Translated by STEPHEN HADEN GUEST

THIS new interpretation of Montaigne, by one of our most distinguished men of letters, presents in the first part of the book, a vital, witty and entirely personal portrait of Montaigne. The second part is a very original commentary on the essence of Montaigne's works, and the third part is a brief florilège of the most interesting pages from Montaigne. Printed in conjunction with the Blackamore Press, Ltd., of London, bound in full buckram, designed at the Blackamore Press, the edition is limited to 1000 copies, numbered and signed by the author, of which 500 copies are for sale in the United States.

Date to be announced $5.00

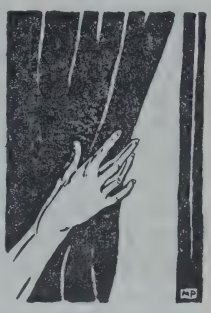
Because of format, subject matter, and author, this small edition has been practically disposed of. A few copies remain.

A Curious Life

By GEORGE WEHNER
With an introduction by TALBOT MUNDY



THIS is the first book of its kind ever published—the only actual autobiography ever written by a person who has been what is called a "medium" since early childhood. His psychic experiences began as soon as he could observe; and he began to describe the things he "saw" as soon as he could talk. He sets down here the story of his curious life and his amazing experiences simply and straightforwardly, and often the persons concerned are famous, because he has become so well known that his advice has been much sought after. To the scientifically minded, the interest of this book will be Mr. Wehner's own explanations and beliefs concerning his powers; and his proofs that he does communicate with the dead, that he does see things which have occurred, and things which will happen. The less scientifically minded will find a greater interest in the fantastic pattern of the life described, and the thousands of curious, intimate personal contacts with all kinds of people, all over the world. There will be those who will agree with Talbot Mundy that "it is the incontrovertible, direct and unqualified answer to all who have hitherto assumed that medium-ship is an imaginary condition." Others will scoff. We offer it for what it undeniably is—a tremendously interesting book, obviously written in entire sincerity, on a subject which engrosses us all.

The only actual life story ever written by a "medium"—this book is a landmark in its field.

The Soviet Union Looks Ahead

The Five Year Plan for Economic Construction

DURING the past five years trade between the United States and the Soviet Union exceeded $500,000,000—in spite of the absence of diplomatic relations. Within the next five years, the Soviet Union proposes to make investments of thirty-three billion dollars. Imports during the period are set at over $3,000,000,000. What will be America's share? This and many other questions of vital interest are answered in this book, the first presentation in English of the program ratified at the end of May by 3,000 members of the Congress of Soviets. By this plan, the Soviet Union expects to transform a predominantly agricultural country of 155,000,000 inhabitants, into one of the world's leading industrial powers. The scheme, which will engage a huge staff of technicians to map out railways, factories, power plants, mines, public buildings and dwellings, also will provide for agriculture along modern lines. Here in this book the whole story is told of another great new country in the making. Illustrated with maps, charts, and diagrams.

Thirty-three billion dollars to spend—think of it!—and read about it in this first book on the subject.

Droll Stories

By HONORÉ DE BALZAC
Translation revised by ERNEST BOYD

THIS edition of these famous tales, hitherto available only in expensive limited issues, is unabridged. Ernest Boyd has re-edited and revised the translation, to bring it as close as possible to the original. Of the importance of these tales as literature, Prof. George Saintsbury wrote:

"Balzac in his preface acknowledges his indebtedness to his master Rabelais; and, to be sure, the points of likeness between those two great Frenchmen are striking. They both put on a mask of comedy and rakishness in order to write with more freedom about manners, customs, politics, and religion. The French will forgive a man for telling them the truth if he but make them smile. . . .

"There is another reason why these Tales should be regarded as a beacon in literature. They are, if I am right, the last flicker of the Renascence in the early part of the 19th century; the rest of Balzac's work belongs to late modern times. Composed in imitation of the manner and language of the sixteenth century, their grotesque and fantastic incidents and tone exactly suit the writer, and some of the stories are among the masterpieces of French literature."

The Icosameron

By JACQUES CASANOVA DE SEINGALT
Translated and edited by ARUNDELL DEL RE

Or the History of Edward and Elizabeth

CASANOVA believed that the Icosameron, rather than his Memoirs, would establish his fame, and history might actually have justified his belief if the Inquisition had not condemned the Icosameron and burned all available copies. Only three are known to survive. The Black and Gold Icosameron is the first edition of this work to be published in any form whatever since that time. Though compelled to abridge, the editor-translator has preserved all the essentials of the original five-volume work, restoring a literary treasure to its rightful heirs.

The exotic adventures of the Arabian Nights,—the romantic perils of the Odyssey,—the cosmic satire of Jonathan Swift,—all live again in these tales of the wanderings of Edward and Elizabeth. Shipwrecked, they sink through oceans, slide down precipices, fall through pools of eerie atmosphere and seas of steaming red liquid into the very center of the earth—a region inhabited by a strange race, whose customs might well have provided the inspiration for Anatole France's Penguin Island.

The publishers consider this one of the most important additions made to the now well-established Black and Gold Library.

The Perfect Courtier By BALDASSARE CASTIGLIONE

CASTIGLIONE was born near Mantua, and was educated in Milan. In 1496 he entered the service of Lodovico Sforza, duke of Milan. In 1504 he was attached to the court of Guidobaldo Malatesta, duke of Urbino, and in 1506 he was sent by that prince on a mission to Henry VII of England. He died under the false accusation of treachery, and of grief and shame at the imputation. A portrait of him painted by Raphael, his friend, is now in the Louvre.

Castiglione wrote little, but that little is of rare merit, and the book by which he is best remembered is The Perfect Courtier, published in Venice by Aldus in 1528. It is remarkable for its easy force and undemonstrative elegance of style, no less than for the nobility and manliness of its theories. It describes the perfect gentleman of the Renaissance under his brightest and fairest aspect, giving a charming picture of the court of Guidobaldo da Montefeltre, duke of Urbino, the most elevated court in Italy. It discusses what constitutes a perfect gentleman, and with but few differences, the type is the ideal gentleman of the present day.

Successes of the Late Spring & Summer

VIVANDIÈRE! by Phoebe Fenwick Gaye

THIS brilliant first novel, which has captured critics here as it captured Arnold Bennett, Frank Swinnerton and the other leading reviewers in England, tells the tender love story of Julie, the little wine seller, who followed Napoleon's army on the campaign to Moscow. William Lyon Phelps, in an enthusiastic letter to Horace Liveright, called it "a very remarkable novel; one of the best of the season," and the N. Y. Herald Tribune said: "It has a spaciousness of conception and a richness of detail which make it an memorable addition to the creative literature of the Napoleonic wars. It offers an impressive and often grotesquely beautiful genre picture of the war of the period . . . as concrete and colorful as the lithographs of Gros and his successors, and as intensely dramatic . . . In Vivandière! idyllic beauty arises, like a vapor, out of horror." The Philadelphia Record summed up its feeling about the book in this sentence: "Gaye does for historical novels what Strachey did for biography," and Walter Yust declared in the Philadelphia Ledger: "It is historical romance of the Feuchtwanger brand . . . its popularity is inevitable."

"IF this is in reality history, depicting the life of the famous Dowager Empress of China, and peopled by authentic portraits of actual persons, then it is history in a thoroughly painless guise . . . It brings to life the mysterious court of the Violet City, and illuminates it with passion, warm under the weight of thousands of years of ritual." N. Y. Herald Tribune. "Chinese gentlemen have assured me that Mr. Pettit has arrived at what they consider a most calamitous understanding of their ways . . . he has preserved the amusing style and sly witty sophistries of his earlier books." George Currie, Brooklyn Eagle.

GESTALT PSYCHOLOGY — by Dr. Wolfgang Köhler

The publication of this work was as signal an event in psychological literature as the appearance of William James' Principles of Psychology in 1890. It is the first definitive presentation, in English or any other language, of the important new gestalt theory. "To say that this book is provocative and stimulating is to express its values in very inadequate terms," says the N. Y. Herald Tribune. "Opens new roads for advance in the study of human reactions," says the N. Y. Times, "bringing many cogent criticisms against behaviorism."

THE SEXUAL LIFE OF SAVAGES — by Bronislaw Malinowski

With an Introduction by Havelock Ellis

"IT may safely be said," writes Havelock Ellis in his preface to The Sexual Life of Savages, "that this book will become a classic of which the value must increase with the passage of time."

The book is the first full, scientific and reliable account of the sexual life of savages which has yet appeared in any language. It describes the psychology of erotic life and of love-making, and gives a detailed statement of the forms of orgiastic license. The chapters on love-magic and erotic folk-lore, based on a thorough knowledge of the native vernacular, give a unique insight into the ideas about the sexual impulse held by these neolithic savages.

CHILDREN OF DARKNESS — by Edwin Justus Mayer

THE redblooded eighteenth century is in this play, when thieves were gentlemen, and gentlemen were thieves; when the gallows swung their man at every sunrise, and the wenches found one to take his place at every sunset. Alexander Woollcott calls the play "better than Mayer's own Firebrand"—which is high praise indeed.
